Foreword

The staff of the Chinook of 1922 has endeavored, in presenting a record of events, organizations and activities, to reveal something of the traditions, spirit and ideals of the State College of Washington.

If we have failed in this endeavor, we present it as a record of college days, as a memory book that will serve to recall many happy hours spent at Washington State.

The staff has received a great deal of personal satisfaction from editing the book and considers it a pleasure and privilege to thus serve the interests of the student body and the State College of Washington and hopes that the book will serve as a medium of binding closer the ties of their alma mater.

OFTEN in the past, the college graduate has been cartooned as a "sissified" youth, or an empty-headed young woman, showing great enthusiasm for the latest dance, the newest and cheapest novel, or a mock-heroic interest in great economic and political problems which they know nothing about. At one time the public laughed at such descriptions and was inclined to believe them true. But today the world knows better.

It is significant, I am sure, that this college graudate of the traditions has never by fact, hearsay, or cartoon, been identified with the State College of Washington.

From the beginning, the State College has sent from its doors, young men and women who believe in "the gospel of labor," and who are eager to take their places in business and industry. Usually, these young people accept at the beginning, very modest positions and remain in them until, through industry and efficiency, they prove their worth and are advanced to larger and more important positions.

The State College has preached against the theory that "money" should be the single basis for judging the success or failure of any one. A man may be successful in money-making, but fail in all else. One may fail financially, but succeed in making the community and the world a better place in which to live. Upon the other hand, it should not be assumed, by State College graduates, or others, that the money-maker, merely because he IS a money-maker, should be looked upon with suspicion.

Obedience to law and order has, in the spirit fostered by the State College, the force of the Golden Rule. Someone has said that we are living in a world whose material prosperity has outgrown its commercial law and commercial ethics. This undoubtedly is true, but the only way in which permanent changes can be made in our democracy is through the regular legislative processes at the state and national capitols. To advocate any less orderly procedure is a violation of the fundamental theory upon which all democracy rests.

In a word, the State College of Washington considers a man or woman successful who is able to become economically independent; who assists the community to rise to higher social, educational and economic levels; who does not consider mere financial success as necessary to the rendering of great service to one's community; and, finally, who stands for good government and the orderly changes in our laws.

E. O. HOLLAND, President.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Dear Alumni:

Loyalty to our Alma Mater is the best way for us to show our measure of appreciation for the things it has done for us. It is possible for us to show this loyalty, if after graduation, we fail to keep in touch with our college.

Why is it so difficult to get money from the legislature for the cause of higher education? Largely because of the fact that people generally do not understand the importance of a college education. Who is responsible for this condition? Those who have graduated from college, and have failed to evidence a proper appreciation for the privilege that the state has bestowed upon them. They have failed to disclose a concern for the welfare of their college after having passed from its halls of learning. In other words, they have not become propagandists for the cause of higher education. They lose touch with the college, and when that touch is lost, their interest in its affairs passes with it.

If you think your Alma Mater has been a good thing for you—and it has—it will be a good thing for others, and should continue to be a help and inspiration to the coming generations. Furthermore, if it is a power for good—and it is—it must be guided by the mature men and women who are out in the world of affairs, and if those men and women are to assist in guiding it, they must keep in touch with it, know something of its problems and its duties. The more of the Alumni who know these things, the more surely is our college to be guided by the best judgment of those who direct it.

Let us be loyal to our college, and show our appreciation of what it means to us, by telling others about its grand and glorious work. Let us keep in touch with its problems, and enlist our aid in its behalf. Let us not forget the ideals that came into our lives as a result of our associations on its campus, and above all let us be true to ourselves by being true to the cause of our Alma Mater.

Sincerely yours,

HARRY M. CHAMBERS,
Alumni Secretary.

COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

DEAN JOHNSON

"MY greatest ambition is to be thought the first farmer of America," said Washington. "At the head of all science and arts, at the head of all civilization and progress, stands not militarism, the science that kills; not commerce, the art that accumulates wealth; but agriculture, the mother of all industry, and the maintainer of life," said Garfield. "We are founded as a nation of farmers and in spite of the great growth of our industrial life, it still remains true that our whole system rests upon the farm; that the welfare of the whole community depends upon the welfare of the farmer; the strengthening of country life is the strengthening of the nation," said Roosevelt.

To develop men and women for this "greatest opportunity" for the profession named "the mother of all industry" and for "the strengthening of the nation by the strengthening of country life" attained by equipping men and women for a life's work in agriculture, whether that be on the farm, in the farm home, in the school room, on the farm paper, in agricultural service of state or nation, in the country bank or in business enterprises or industries intimately related to agriculture. A thorough grounding in the essentials of the subjects taught in the ten departments of the College of Agriculture and in the basic sciences and liberal arts of the other divisions of the State College, therefore, is required of all who wish to fit themselves for this great calling.

The College of Agriculture is composed of the Departments of Agricultural Engineering, Animal Husbandry, Dairy Husbandry, Farm Crops, Farm Management, Forestry, Horticulture, Plant Pathology, Poultry Husbandry and Soils. The larger number of the 300 or more students who major in agriculture, take their degree in the general course of agriculture. However, ample opportunity is given to Juniors and Seniors to specialize in any of these departments and to take electives in other departments of the institution.

The Agricultural Experiment Station is a division of the college founded by the state and federal government for the purpose of conducting original research and investigation of the agricultural problems of this state. The majority of the staff of the College of Agriculture also are on the staff of the Experiment Station, while a number of experiment station men devote their entire time to investigational work. In addition, the Departments of Botany and Zoology and the College of Veterinary Science are represented on the Experiment Station Staff. The Dean of the College of Agriculture also is Director of the Station.

COLLEGE OF SCIENCE AND ARTS

O. L. WALLER

WE realize now, more clearly than ever before, how vitally chemistry reaches down into the large and small things of our lives—the clothing we wear, the food we eat, our farming, our manufacturing, the houses we build, the sanitation of our homes—these things, and multitudes more, mean work for chemists.

So chemistry is a beckoning field for ambitious Youth; because, if for no other reason, there are hundreds of millions of people in the world who must be housed, fed and clothed. Indirectly, perhaps, not obstrusively, but nevertheless vitally, this practical science renders service to millions.

There is a good sized family of State College chemists now in the field, and they are scattered from the Atlantic coast to China, and from Canada to the Gulf. Naturally, when ready to work, they go where opportunities are best. They keep our sugar pure, bring condensed milk up to legal standard, insure the dependability of building materials, including cement; do research in agricultural chemical laboratories, and are entering the new profession of chemical engineer. It is work that is useful, in a field whose boundaries are steadily widening.

BOTANY

There is an increasing need for botanists—that is, for men and women so well acquainted with plants that they can prescribe for their ills, show them where they can thrive happily, and weed out the drones.

In short, more botanists are wanted to bring about better cooperation between the plant-world and the man-world. Only by working with plants can we make plants work for us.

People who know how to make plants do their best are botanists. One may be a botanist on one's own farm, in his orchard, or garden, or hay ranch; or, one may be a sort of missionary-botanist, teaching in high school, or in college; or he may travel in all sorts of out-of-the-way-places, like your old-time circuit riding preacher—only preaching the gospel of better plants, happier plants, plants whose lives, like our own, should be dedicated to useful service.

The opportunities for botanists are good—never better than at this time when the land area of the earth is getting pretty well filled up with people. This condition is making both people and plants work harder. Men and plants should know each other. The more we know about them the more food they supply to us. We must know them, their needs, and what they can do for us.

MODERN LANGUAGES

This year the Department of Modern Languages has reached the "high water mark," both in number of students and efficiency of work. The new Spanish House, with its convenient location, its modern and comfortable quarters, and the splendid opportunity it offers for attaining a practical speaking knowledge of Spanish, is an evidence of progress of which the College may be proud. It is the only Spanish House connected with an institution of higher education in the United States, and marks a forward step in modern language teaching. There is now, in different lines of trade and commerce, particularly that dealing with foreign nations, a rapidly growing demand for specialists who can write and speak the modern languages. The State College of Washington supplies training which is peculiarly effective in meeting this demand.

ZOOLOGY

The Zoology laboratories have been enriched during the year by the addition of the natural history collections of the late Dr. O. S. Westcott, of Chicago. Forty-five thousand mounted and named specimens were included in this collection, making this part of the department's teaching equipment foremost on the Pacific Coast. The class in General Biology has quadrupled in the last two years, now numbering 110 students. Three sections of the ornithology class are recording bird migrants. The museum has added a valuable set of small mammals from its summer biological survey of the Cascade mountains. A book on bees and their culture is being issued.

ECONOMIC SCIENCE AND HISTORY

History, politics, sociology, economics and business as a basis for teaching, the study of law, or commercial pursuits, are the main fields covered in the Department of Economic Science and History. The instruction this year has been in charge of seven full-time teachers. The enrollment increased approximately one-fifth over that of last year. Courses given heretofore but one semester a year, now, due to increased numbers electing such courss, are given each semester. Still others, formerly given in alternate years, are now given annually. Up-to-date mechanical and office appliances are being added for use of the courses in accounting and secretarial work.

COLLEGE OF HOME ECONOMICS

DEAN HARRISON

N these days of specialists, specialization is demanded in all fields of endeavor. More and more colleges are called upon to send out women who are prepared to follow some line of work or endeavor.

The College of Home Economics endeavors to help prepare women to meet their responsibilities as wage-earners, home makers and good citizens.

The coure of instruction given in this college is planned to meet the needs of four classes of students:

(a) Those specializing in other lines of work, but desiring a knowledge of the general principles and facts of home economics as a part of a liberal education.

(b) Those who wish to make a specialty of home economics for the purpose of teaching the subject in secondary schools as well as teacher training under the Smith-Hughes act.

(c) Those who wish a knowledge of the principles underlying household administration and institutional management.

(d) Those who desire to make a detailed study of home economics in its relation to the arts and sciences which are fundamental in the management of the home.

COLLEGE OF VETERINARY SCIENCE

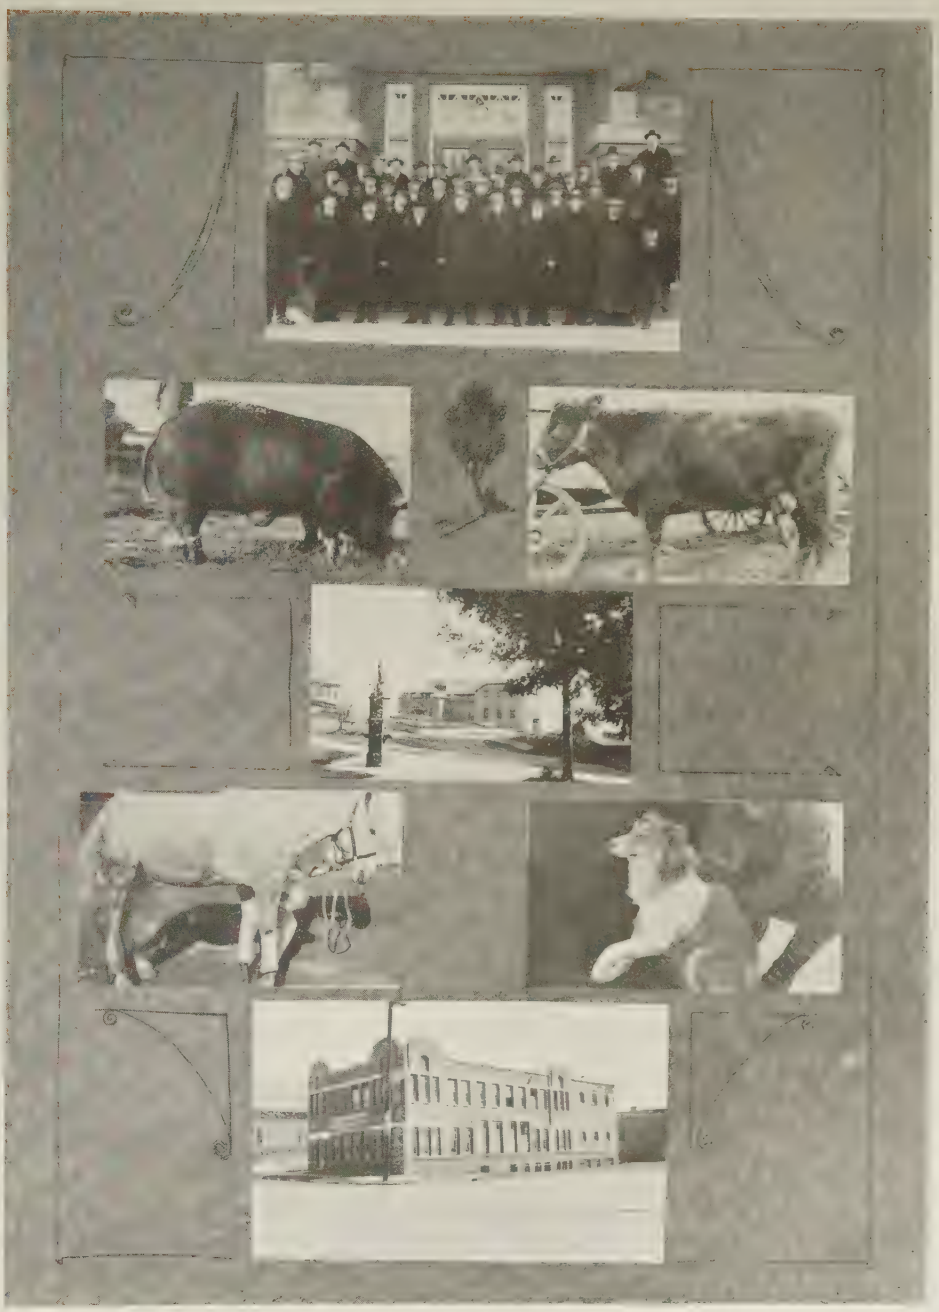
VICE DEAN WEGNER

THE College of Veterinary Science of the State College of Washington is one of the oldest colleges in the institution. It's first class graduated in the year 1902, and since that time it has graduated one hundred and twenty-five men.

These graduates are found in all lines of Veterinary work in the great west, from California to Alaska, and hold many responsible positions protecting the lives of domestic animals. Its graduates are engaged in private practice, by the U. S. Government in both quarantine and meat inspection work. The army needs them in the quartermaster's corps and as line officers. Teaching positions and research work occupy several, and state and national tuberculosis eradication gives employment to many others. Probably no collegiate course prepares a man for a greater number of substantial positions than the College of Veterinary Science.

This College offers every year a post-graduate course for veterinarians which is getting to be substantially approved by the practitioners who recognize in the State College of Washington the center of the veterinary education in the entire west.

We need more young men to prepare themselves to do this important work, as the number now preparing themselves is not sufficient to meet the demands of the great livestock industry.



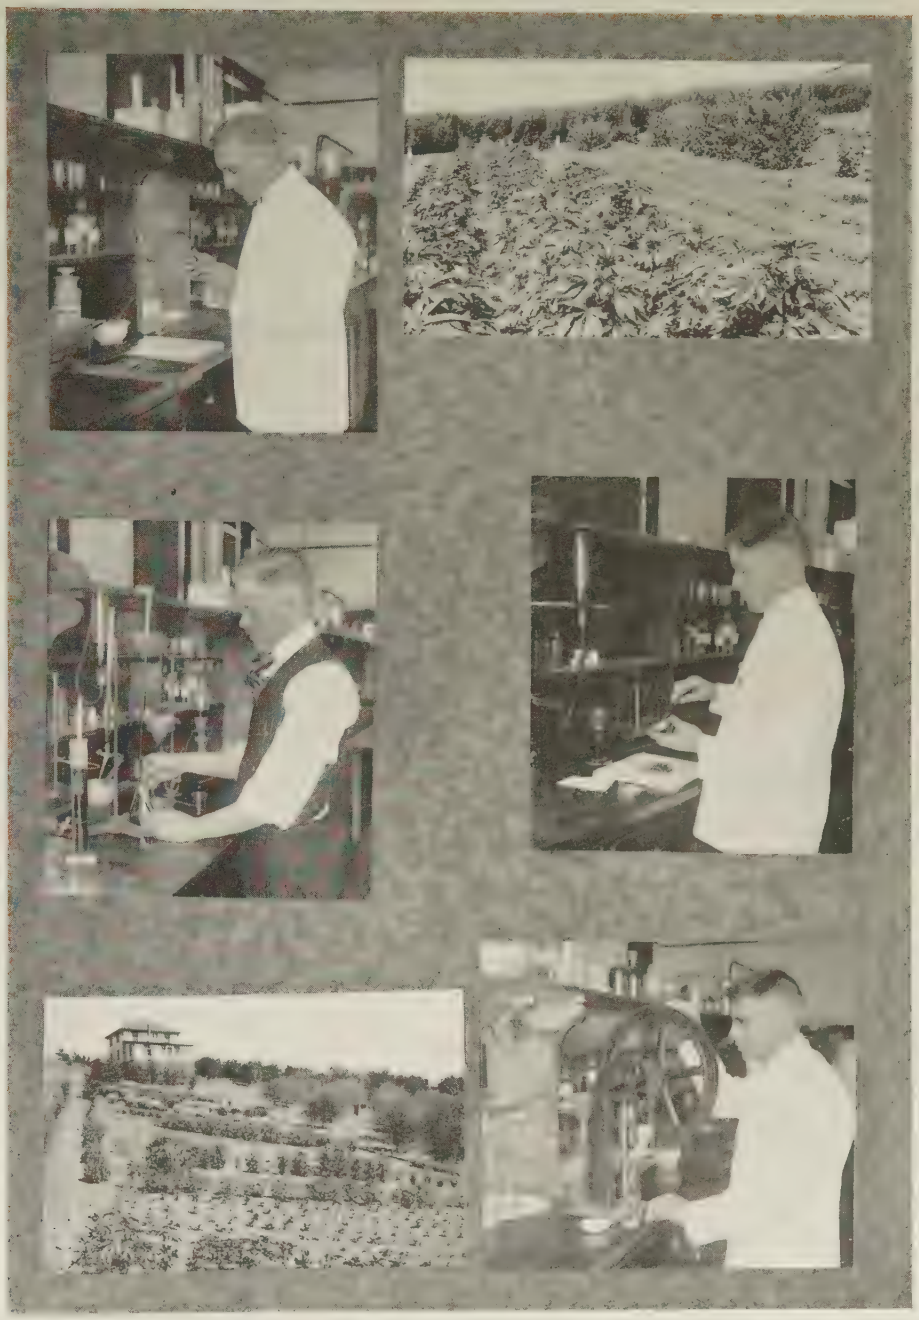
SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

DR. P. H. DIRSTINE

THE School of Pharmacy has for its purpose the training of men and women for a vocation in life that offers many opportunities, especially in the practice of retail pharmacy; pharmaceutical chemists for manufacturing drug firms; chemists; food and drug inspectors, Federal and State; teachers of pharmacy and chemistry, traveling salesmen, investigators in pharmaceutical research, etc.

The School of Pharmacy offers a two-year course, a three year course and a four-year course in Pharmacy. Over 50 per cent of the students enrolled in Pharmacy are three and four year students. The School of Pharmacy also offers a two-year course in Pre-Medicine and Pre-Dentistry.

It is the motto of the School of Pharmacy to turn out the best pharmacists that it is posible to produce. The reports received from the pharmacists of the Pacific Northwest and the success of the alumni justify the belief that the school has lived up to its motto.



SCHOOL OF MINES AND GEOLOGY

DEAN HOWARD

"MAN'S ascent to his present plane of intelligence was a slow process so long as he merely scratched the surface of the earth in an endeavor to cultivate food crops. His real advance did not begin until he discarded his stone implements and wooden bow and arrow and dug down into the earth and secured materials from which he made the plow, the hoe, the ax and the sword. Agriculture was a primitive pursuit until the coming of metal tools. Science and Engineering were crude arts until metal devices made experimentation possible, the diffusion of knowledge an accomplished fact, and the control of steam and electricity a common reality. Without the metals there would be no great transportation systems on water, on land or in the air throughout the world. There would be no printing presses, and consequently no literature. We should have no telegraph lines, telephones, cables, harvesting machinery of lofty skyscrapers. All of us would have to forsake the big towns and take to the woods, for without metals there would be no water or sewerage, and our cities would soon become dangerous pest holes."

Without doubt, civilization has been developed on a metallic basis, and the miner has been the real pioneer of industry and of empire. The story of the early progress of man is really a tale of the gold of Ophir, the silver of the Laurium Mountains in Greece, and the copper of Mount Sinai in Egypt. Hannibal, the famous Cathaginian general, would never have been able to conquer Rome in the Second Punic War had it not been for the metals obtained from the mines of Iberia. When Carthage and Rome were overthrown mining practically ceased, the dark days of the Middle Ages commenced and the advance of civilization was halted. The discovery of a great New World beyond the sea in 1492 marked the beginning of a new era of romance and adventure in which the hardy miner again came into being and played the principle role."

First came Cotez, Pizarro and other pirates, who looted the accumulated treasures of the New World. It was unfortunate for Spain that many of her pioneers were filibusters who destroyed but did not develop. Following the spoilers came the Cornish and Saxon miners, who introduced the art of mining into the New World. It is true that the trade follows the flag, but far in advance of the flag was the man with the pick."

The School of Mines and Geology, through the Departments of Geology and of Mining and Metallurgy, offers four-year courses in Geology, Mining and Metallurgy.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC AND APPLIED DESIGN

DEAN KIMBOROUGH

EXCELLENT instruction in all branches, of course that may be taken for granted. But more than this, it aims to throw about the student an atmosphere that good teaching alone cannot produce. The work of the studio and classroom is supplemented by the privilege of participating in the production of larger musical works and plays, and of hearing the master pieces performed by organizations like the Orchestra, the Chorus, or the Dramatic Class; by members of the faculty, and by world-famous artists. Thus during the present year we have been privileged to hear the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra; Benno Moisewitsch, pianist; the Salzedo Harp Ensemple; Cecil Fanning, baritone; Frances Alda, Metropolitan Opera star. The orchestra played a memorable Beethoven program, and the chorus has given us Cole's "Ode to Liberty"; the Ensemble class traversed the course. of Chamber music from Corelli to Straus and Debussy in four concerts; while the Dramatics class gave notable performances of excellent examples of farce, comedy, drama and tragedy. The value of hearing and seeing such masterpieces and participating in their production, as well as in the many smaller recitals, plays, and exhibitions, cannot be overestimated.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

DEAN CLEVELAND

THE School of Education was established by law to train teachers for high schools, principals, supervisors of special subjects and superintendents. Its rapid increase in number of major students and of students electing courses in education reflects the condition that grew out of the war experience of the nation, that educational opportunities must be made more adequate and that well trained teachers and other educational leaders are essential to the attainment of this object.

The past year has been the best in the history of this division of the College. The enrollment of major students is practically double that of last year. All members of last year's instructional staff remained this year, some valuable new courses have been given, and a better grade of work has been done by both major students and those from other departments.

The Alpha Beta Club, the men's educational club, has an unusually strong membership, and the Phi Mu Beta, the new education club for women, has started with an excellent membership that promises well for the future.

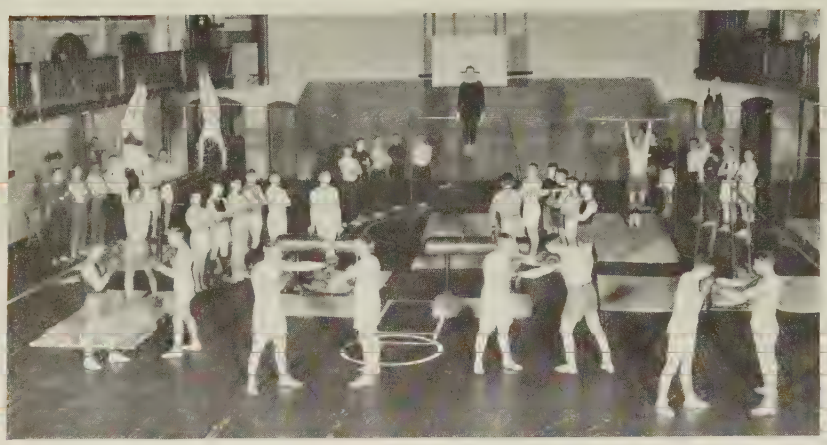
The Faculty of the School of Education represents a wide range of training and experience and consists of the following:

Alfred A. Cleveland, Ph. D., Clark University, Dean; Cliff W. Stone, Ph. D., Teachers' College, Columbia University, Professor of Education; David W. Hamilton, Ph. D., University of New Brunswick, Agricultural Education; Aubrey A. Douglass, Ph. D., Clark University, Assistant Professor of Education; William H. Burton, A. M., Teachers' College, Columbia University, Assistant Professor of Education; Stokley C. Roberts, Ph. B., University of Chicago, Assistant Professor of Manual Arts; Catherine T. Bryden, B. S., University of Idaho, Assistant Profesor and Critic Teacher of Home Economics Teaching; H. Noel Bakke, B. S., State College of Washington, Instructor in Agricultural Education.

The schedules of studies are so planned that a student may, while making careful professional preparation, fit himself to teach any of the combination of subjects usually required of a beginning teacher in high school. For those not intending to engage in educational work, the department offers a number of interesting and helpful courses, among which are courses in Psychology, Principles and History of Education, Childhood and Adolescence. Since education is the most important enterprise in a democratic state, the value of such studies to those who are being trained for leadership is obvious.

With the increasing emphasis that is being placed on well trained teachers, and with better salaries being paid those who are well prepared, the prospects are bright for even a more rapid development of the School of Education in the near future.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION



Physical Education is more and more becoming a part of our normal activities. In some form or other it is beginning to permeate all phases of life. Although great progress has been made, its possibilities are far from being exhausted. For as long as for every great man on the cinder path, on the gridiron or the diamond there are thousands who are flabby and inefficient; there is still much to be desired. Health and vigor are most valuable assets. When these are maintained by proper living and supplemented by a program of leisure time recreation, the result will be better citizens.

THE DEPARTMENT OF ELEMENTARY SCIENCE

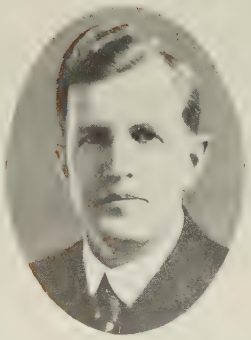
ACTING HEAD
N. J. AIKEN

THE Department of Elementary Science is primarily a vocational school maintained for the purpose of equipping persons to earn their living in trades, industries, agriculture, business, and home-making. The law provides a minimum age requirement of sixteen years, and a scholastic requirement of eighth grade in the public schools or its equivalent.

This department opens the door of opportunity to that group of young men and women found everywhere, and larger in number than the group that has completed high school, who are past high school age and have come to realize the need of vocational training. Again, it is intended to serve those who live in rural districts where high schools do not offer four-year courses, or those who live in high school communities where the schools are not equipped to give vocational training at all.

In organization the department includes one-year courses in general farming, dairying, machine shop, automobile mechanics, printing, domestic economy, bookkeeping and stenography; three-year courses in agriculture, mechanic and industrial arts, music and oral expression, applied arts and domestic science. Any three-year course may be adjusted at the beginning of the third year so that it will fulfill entrance requirements to any college course.

THE DIVISON OF GENERAL COLLEGE EXTENTION



F. F. NALDER

TO carry the intellectual and social service of the College to people who cannot attend classes on the campus at Pullman, and to groups and communities which can profit by the service offered is the work of the Division of General College Extension. This Department, the youngest on the campus, is now in the second year of its development. The public has responded most gratifyingly to the service offered, which is given by the following methods:

1. Correspondence courses are given in many subjects, including Political Science, Journalism, Education, Civics, English, Mathematics, Manual Training, Modern Languages, History and Sociology. Most of the courses yield toward a college degree. Advantage of this opportunity to receive college instruction without coming to the College is being taken by an increasing number of persons.

2. College Extension Classes are organized and taught by college instructors whenever feasible. During the past year 12 classes with an aggregate enrollment of over 200 persons have been conducted in Spokane and Yakima. In the majority of instances, wherever at least 15 persons are willing to attend classes in any subjects, the college will endeavor to furnish an instructor. This is, perhaps, the most effective method of projecting the College beyond the campus.

3. Educational motion picture films and stereopticon slides are circulated. In its brief history the General College Extension Division has accumulated a library of about 250 reels of film. These are sent to schools, churches, community centers, farm bureaus, Y. M. C. A.'s and other organizations and used entirely for educational purposes. Sets of stereopticon slides on various subjects, with accompanying lectures, are supplied for popular instruction.

4. College Extension Lectures and Musical and Literary Recitals are offered. Several members of the faculty are available for popular or semi-popular lectures in their respective fields. These lectures are being used to good advantage at various forms of community gatherings. Also through the cooperation of the School of Music and Dramatic Arts, musical and literary recitals are furnished to community gatherings.

The Women's League is the all-women's organization of the College, of which every woman on the campus is a member. The purposes of the League are: To promote unity and mutual helpfulness among the women, to maintain the social and moral standards of the College on a high plane, to insure interest in student activities, training in citizenship and high standards in scholarship. The latter aims are furthered by the operations of the Point System.

The Women's League holds membership in the Intercollegiate Vocational Guidance Association, the Washington Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Intercollegiate Conference of Associated Women Students. The first session of this Conference was held at this institution last November.

The executive body of the League is the Women's Council, composed of a representative from each women's organization of importance to the women and the Campus.

TRADITIONS

TRADITIONS that have come down to us from the past are the dearest possessions of Washington State. In the fall every freshman dons with pride the little green cap which he wears until Thanksgiving. He then lays it away in lavender until it again appears on St. Patrick's day to grace his sophisticated brow. On campus day it is cast with joy into the frosh bonfire, while the new-born sophomores yell with glee.

In the frosh-soph supremacy contest held in September, these two worthy opponents clash with good-natured vengeance in different athletic sports and the famous Lake-de-Puddle tug of war.

The painting of the frosh numeral on the stack used to be the occasion of a bloody fight, but now it is a battle of wits, as to the night on which the frosh of steeple-jack tendencies will prove their prowess.

The Varsity ball at the close of the football season to honor the "W" men, the Military ball in February, directed by the Military Department, and the Junior Prom given by the Juniors in honor of the graduating class, are the formal events in the college social calendar.

Often during the witching midnight hours, soft strains of music float upon the calm air and faculty members sigh and say, "Another serenade, I wonder how many will fall asleep in class tomorrow."

The crimson and gray Washington State Fez is worn by all men students on days preceding big athletic contests and at the game. Pep rallies are held in the evening preceding the big day. During the game if any stalwart, fez-clad rooter shall escort a mere girl, the gentle (?) tap of paddles, wielded by the mighty arms of the "W" men, shall be his reward. These lusty wielders of the paddle are known as the discipline committee, and great is the woe of a luckless frosh who is caught without his green or enjoying the society of a co-ed on the campus during class hours.

Alpha Zeta initiation day is one day on which no one cuts chapel. These luckless victims of ambitious aspirations must appear on the platform garbed in ridiculous and outlandish fashion, to the great amusement and enjoyment of the students assembled.

Home Guard day is dear to the heart of every ex-rook, for it is then that "Prexy's Army" is away at camp and the upper classmen guard the campus and its fair damsels. Dressed in uniforms that are anything but uniforms, they stage a side-splitting parade and finish the celebration by a free-for-all sneak dance in the gym.

The May Fete is a sure sign of spring, and when the Queen of May has been crowned and her graceful subjects have danced in her honor, the annual May Romp in the gym is the refuge of all the slaves of Terpsichore.

The day of days in the calendar is Campus Day. It is the occasion of a general policing of the stretching acres of our hill-top campus, with a big, outdoor picnic on the hillside at noon, indulged in by all, with perhaps a track meet or game in the afternoon, and a big Campus Day ball in the evening. This is the time when visitors from neighboring high schools are impressed with the beauty of our college and the spirit of its loyal students.

Home Coming Day is the day on which all the alumni and old students of the College return for another glimpse of the scenes of their college days. It is usually celebrated on the occasion of some big athletic event and the alumni luncheon with the Home Coming ball terminating the festivities of the day.

The traditions that cluster around the Senior Class are the most beautiful and most sacred of all. As the caps and gowns begin to appear on the campus, giving promise of eventful days to come, the traditional senior benches are the scenes of little gatherings of fond classmates, enjoying their last spring on Washington State's beautiful campus. Their entrance into chapel is acknowledged by the rising of all the assembled students.

The Senior Sneak is a yearly cause for the sharpening of Junior wits for ways and means of preventing the Seniors from getting away on this much anticipated day of carefree college life.

The Senior Pilgrimage to say farewell to all the dear, familiar campus buildings and well-loved haunts, is held on Commencement morning. That, together with the Senior breakfast in Tanglewood, makes up those touching "last time" memories, and the hearts of those dignified gown-clad Seniors are filled with sorrow at the thought of the fast approaching close of their happy college days.

INTERCOLLEGIATE CONFERENCE OF ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

THE Intercollegiate Conference of Associated Women Students was organized and held its first meeting at the State College of Washington, November 11-13, 1920. The idea of such a conference originated at this college and invitations were issued to representative institutions west of the Mississippi. Fourteen colleges and universities were represented.

Talks were given by the delegates from the various institutions on such vital subjects as: Honor System, Student Government, Vocational Guidance, Point System and the Big Sister Movement. After each speech a period was given over to general discussion.

An Exchange Bureau was created to carry on the exchange of material between the yearly sessions of the Conference.

The second meeting of the Conference will be held next fall at the University of California.

ANTOINETTE SHRYOCK,
Secretary of Exchange Bureau.

FLORENCE WEED,
Assistant Secretary.

STATE COLLEGE OF WASHINGTON
1920 1921

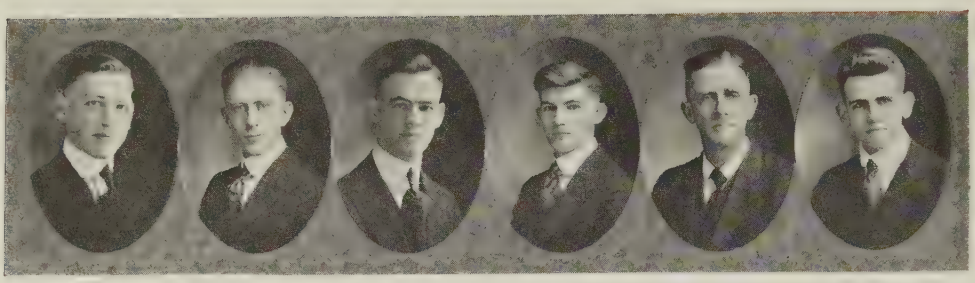
Chamberlain Power McElroy
Leuty Steel Wilson
Kartheiser Van Delinder Toms

The Glebe, quarterly literary magazine, published under the auspices of the local chapter of the American College Quill Club, was founded in April, 1920. The increase in circulation since that time has been about 50 per cent, or from 700 copies in the first number to 1000 copies in the last number.

The purpose of the magazine is to provide the students of the College an outlet for creative literary ability. It is recognized that college and university students expect a higher standard of expression than may be found in high school publications, and this is an expectation which The Glebe is doing its best to satisfy. The Glebe is looking for material that is both meritorious and popular, but in case of a conflict between merits and popularity it does not hesitate to sacrifice the latter to the former.

It is gratifying to see that the students of the State College of Washington respect such a policy, a fact which is shown by the steadily increasing circulation during the past year.

DEBATE



Endslow Tweedy McGlade Keller Lindsey Williams

Debate and Oratory are under the direct control of the Associated Students, and are supported by a fixed proportion of the funds of this body. The affairs of this activity are managed by a committee of three and the debate coach. Gold emblems (W) are awarded to students who represent the College in oratory or debate.

STOCK JUDGING TEAM

Members of the Stock Judging Team were Earl P. Cooke, Harold D. Morgan, James T. Roberts, Harry A. Siler and Herbert A. Anderson. Alternates: J. Howard Dobbin, C. C. Gay and Daryl B. Leonard. The team competed at Spokane, Lewiston and at the Pacific International at Portland against the following teams: University of Idaho, Oregon Agricultural College and the Utah Agricultural College. Third place was given the team at Spokane and Lewiston. O. A. C. and the State College tied at Portland for third, and the team won the cup, given by the Portland Cattle Loan Company for the highest score in cattle. E. P. Cooke won the prize for the individual having the highest score in Shorthorns, given by the American Shorthorn Association. Professor Howard Hackedorn coached the team, and it was through his efforts that the team was recognized as one of the best on the circuit.

VOCATIONAL SEED JUDGING TEAM

The personnel of this team was chosen from the men taking vocational training and was composed of the following men: Ralph Coulter, Edward Tatham and Guy Canady. The first two men placed first and second respectively and the last placed fourth in the open competition with teams from O. A. C. and the University of Idaho at the seed show in Nampa, Idaho. The State College team easily placed first with O. A. C. and the University of Idaho placing second and third. Mr. Westley coached the team with evident success.

DAIRY PRODUCTS JUDGING TEAM

The products team which judged at the Pacific International at Portland was composed of the following men: R. D. Tucker, H. A. Collins and L. C. Champlain. The standing of the teams competing was: University of California, first; State College of Washington, second; University of Idaho, third. The State College men stood high team in butter judging. Instructor Clem Phillips had charge of the men and coached them for the show.

DAIRY STOCK JUDGING TEAM

Personnel of the team: D. L. Saunders, W. T. Putnam, Jr., A. J. Leonard and R. W. Oltman. The team stood third with the other competing teams standing in the following order: O. A. C. first, University of British Columbia second, and University of Idaho fourth. This team showed its supremacy in the judging of Holsteins.

NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW TEAM

The State College was well represented at the big event of the dairy world at Chicago by a team composed of Thomas C. Webster, C. W. Krassin, Iver Youngquist and J. H. Kruger, alternate. All the larger agricultural schools of the middle west and east competed. Kansas Agricultural College placed first among the twenty-one teams entered. The State College team placed tenth, defeating teams from the University of Nebraska, Cornell University, Ohio State University and other noted schools of the central states. Professor Woodward coached the team and deserves the credit due him in coaching a team which stood out so well under competition from the larger agricultural schools.

MUSIC

GLEE CLUB

With a snappy jazz orchestra, lots of peppy songs, harmonies, melodies and comic stunts and initiation ceremonies, the 1921 Glee Club left the campus Wednesday afternoon, March 30, for the twenty-fourth annual tour barnstorming the unsuspecting citizens of the state. A total of eighteen concerts were given with many additional performances by the varsity quartet at special occasions, and a total of thirty thousand people heard the most elaborate program ever staged by the organization in years.

The first three concerts of the trip were used as breaking in performances and alterations were made until their date in Spokane when the boys were well primed for the biggest end of the tour. The trip to Clarkston the first day was made by car and as a result the gang had lots of fresh air to stimulate the entertainment. The houses at Oakesdale and Tekoa were both filled to capacity the following evenings, and the first bright hopes of success became evident in the applause with which these performances were met.

Spokane is always considered the most important stopping place and the place where the reputation of the club will be made or ruined. Sydney Allison, ever a favorite with Spokane audiences, again received the support of his home people, while Tom Reed, official property man, displayed talent which surprised his neighbors and friends within the city. Phillip Fox at the saxaphone raised much favorable comment from his home town on his work with the Jazz Hounds. After the performance the quartet entertained at the big W. S. C. dance in the Hall of the Doges in the Davenport Hotel. Sacred concerts were called for on Sunday and the club remained over to grant these requests.

Jack Rice put the bunch on the map at Colville by his popularity in his own home town. His part as Napoleon set the pace and the whole house fell in line in the spirit of a good time.

Ritzville was the next objective on the tour since Herschel Gillis called that place home. Due to his influence in the community, a wonderful dance was put on in their honor by the alumni club.

Yakima proved to be the jinks of the trip to some of the boys who were unable to locate their overcoats and even street clothes after the concert. A somewhat novel sight greeted the natives the following day when they beheld part of the gang, all dressed up with stripes and everything, going to the train with others who were more fortunately garbed in miscellaneous combinations of street clothes. The concert in Yakima was given in the biggest theatre in the state, followed by a dance upon the stage.

The best performance was given in Ellensburg the next evening to a house that was packed to the limit. An appreciative audience was the incentive for the exceptional program. The most startling fact on this visit was the success of the men in catching the one o'clock train to Mt. Vernon, although many had to do some real track work in accomplishing it. Swan, who held down the piano stool, almost ruined Gillis' voice by accidentally stepping on his toe in the rush.

Every organization has its bad or off night, and Mt. Vernon seemed to claim that date for the glee club. Frank Jenne, brother of the pole vaulter at W. S. C., gave a royal entertainment for the boys after the concert.

GLEE CLUB

Love for the city of Seattle by the club was not increased any in the stop there, the last Sunday of the trip. Only sacred concerts were given during the day while the rest of the time was spent in visiting university acquaintances. Forrest Beck took in the Orpheum show and added some new ideas to his already clever list of Swede impersonations.

At Centralia the boys arrived in time to join the fire department and do heroic work at a big fire in the afternoon. The concert will be remembered that evening by the discomfort of the quartet caused by Harry Isaacs' late arrival. Harry didn't mind that fact as much as he did in missing the date he had with one of the fair ones for the concert.

Assisted by a little inspiration the club had a wild time at Aberdeen which had not subsided when they reached South Bend the next day. The appreciation of that town in being honored by a visit from the Glee Club was expressed at the banquet following the concert when one of the city dads stated that the town was theirs as long as the club remained. Accordingly—somewhat later—the boys took over the city and started out right by electing Verl Kiser, the lyric tenor on the Varsity quartet, as mayor of South Bend.

At Olympia the boys were entertained at a ball in the Governor's Mansion, to which the High School girls of Tacoma were also invited. Needless to say that the entire visit was very much enjoyed.

The "Kid" makes good in Tacoma. "Kid" Holleque was the shining star in his home town and sang as he never sang before in his place on the Varsity quartet. To this concert all the seniors of the two high schools were invited guests.

The last concert of the tour was given in Wenatchee which proved to be of double service since all of Waterville drove over to hear the bunch because their native son, Carl Fritts, would appear on the Quartet. They were by no means disappointed.

The club returned home Sunday morning giving visible evidence of the many hours of sleep lost during the trip. The success of the trip can be largely attributed to both Professor Butterfield, who directed the club, and to Harry Chambers who took care of the business end. Many favorable comments were received in regards to the good behavior of the club as a whole at the cities visited and from all reports no one appeared upon the stage with rubbers.

DRAMATICS

THE "SCHOOL MISTRESS"

Presented by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., April 16 and 17, 1920

"The School Mistress," a three-act farce by Arthur Pinero, was presented by two different casts trained in the dramatic classes. Mr. Reeid, the director, played the leading role in the first performance, the role of the Hon. Vere Queckett, a much pampered English dude.

The scene of the play was in London, and centered around Volumnia Place, Miss Dyott's fashionable boarding school for girls. It was a sparkling, uproarious farce from beginning to end—brim full of ridiculous situations.

The playing was excellent. Indeed, the characters impressed themselves so well on the audiences that they frequently laughed at the entrance of the actors, even at their serious remarks. On the whole, both performances were thoroughly enjoyable.

Cast of Characters

The Hon. Vere Queckett	Mr. Reeid, Robert Douglas
Miss Dyott	Lena Wilson, Laura Musser
Rear Admiral Rankling	Carl Anderson
Mrs. Rankling	Hattie Huffman, Betty La Rue
Dinah	Clara Olson, Margaret Cubbon
Mr. Reginald Paulover	Eldon Jenne, Charles Fish
Peggy Hesslerigge	Ruth Stone, Cecile Whitfield
Lieutenant Mallory	Lemyrt Knettle
Mr. Saunders	Floy Douglas, Alura Dumas
Gwendoline Hawkins	Celia Peterson
Ermyntrude Johnson	Viola Studer, Irmingard King
Mr. Otto Bernstein	Russell Emhoff
Tyler	Leon Rhea
Jane Chipman	Hattie May Delkin, Frances Roberts

THE PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK

Mask and Dagger, May 28, 1920

A new type of play that has never before been given on the campus was introduced when Mask and Dagger presented "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," made famous by Forbes-Robertson. The play was directed by Mr. N. E. Reeid, and showed much detailed work. Beautiful lighting effects and most convincing stage setting helped much to create the atmosphere.

The very difficult part of the Stranger was handled marvelously well by Russell Emhoff. He dominated the stage every minute with his splendid voice and complete poise.

Irene Oliver was a charming Stasia, the little workhouse girl, who had seen nothing but the sordid side of life.

The play affords great variety by way of the varied types of character in the cast. Mrs. Sharp, the hardened landlady, mistreats and over works poor little Stasia.

Jake Samuels, the Isreali e boarder, sells Jake's stocks. Larchon, a promising young musician, has sold his art for mercenary purposes. Major and Mrs. Tompkins wish to settle their debts by selling their daughter, who is in love with Penny, a young painter, to Wright, a wealthy man, old enough to be her father. Mrs. DeHooley aspires to recogni ion by the royalty. Kite, whose charms have long since faded away, tries to win all the men who cross her path, by her coquettish ways. The Stranger takes lodging in Mrs. Sharp's house and by his lesson of charity and love makes harmony out of discord and turns malice in o love.

The all-star cast is as follows:

Stasia	Irene Oliver
Stranger	Russell Ehmoff
Mrs. Sharp	Delia Hammer
Vivian Tompkins	June Sanders
Major Tompkins	Leon Rhea
Mrs. Tompkins	Hulda Schweer
Christopher Penny	Charles Fish
Wright	Carl Anderson
Samuels	Robert Douglas
Larchon	Harold Truax
Kite	Leona Doerr
Mrs. DeHooley	Jessie Kirkland

THE REJUVENATION OF AUNT MAY

Coached by Miss Melcena La Follette

"The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" kept the house in an uproar from beginning to end. Much of its success was due to the work of Miss Erna Bradbury, who starred as Aunt Mary. The keen wit and devotion of fussy Aunt Mary made one love her throughout the play. Her constant letter hunting, her sudden trip to the city and consequent endeavor to transform her simple country ways to more modern ideas was portrayed wonderfully by Miss Bradbury.

The part of Jack Denham, the indulged nephew, was well taken by Eddie Copeland. Lucinda, the stupid maid, was vividly portrayed by Miss Miriam Zimmerman. Miss Ada Erwin as the "Girl from Kalamazoo" acted her part well. Miss Ruth Garrison made an efficient maid and a charming sweetheart.

Others in the cast were: Lloyd Edwards as Bob Burnett; Earl Dunlap as Mitchell; Walter Hansen as Mr. Stubbins; John Robinson as Joshua; Walter Hansen as James; Ada Erwin as Daisy Mellins, and Maude Harris as Eva.

SUBURBAN LIFE

The four-act farce, "Suburban Life," marshalled in the high class dramatic program arranged for the year 1920-1921 by Nathaniel E. Reeid, head of the Department of Dramatics.

The play was presented Friday and Saturday nights, December 3 and 4, with two separate casts. The plot is a clever one, and Mr. Reeid succeeded admirably in developing the work of his amateur players. Both casts were unusually well adapted to their parts.

The outstanding star was Waverley Lindsay, who handled the part of Sammy Fletcher, the depraved bachelor friend of Larry Brice, in both casts. Sydney Allison depicted with his usual realism the part of Larry Brice, the young commuter, who started the action of the play by bringing Sammy home with him after a night of debauch and then forgetting him.

NaAmy Hedberg and Faerie Wallace played Hetty, Larry's wife, in the two casts, both very successfully. Miss Hedberg excelled in the character interpretation, while Miss Wallace responded admirably to the situations, proving herself a coming star for the State College "boards."

Cleverness marked the work of Cecile Whitfield and Hulda Schweer in their interpretations of Carrie, the maid. In both casts, Carrie proved to be a big laugh winner.

Adelaide Sutherland and Irmingard King as Hettie's mother in the two casts conveyed well the accepted version of the nosey mother-in-law, ever ready with advice for daughter.

Larry's neighbors, Messrs. Colton and Applebee, were well portrayed by Russell Emhoff and Stanley Tweedy in both casts, with Byron Jennings handling the part of Mr. Rolliston in his usual pompous style.

The casts for the two performances follow:

First Night		Second Night
Sydney Allison	Larry Brice	Sydney Allison
Na Amy Hedberg	Hetty, his wife	Faerie Wallace
Adelaide Sutherland	Hetty's mother	Irmingard King
Cecile Whitfield	Carrie, the maid	Hulda Schweer
Byron Jennings	Mr. Rolliston	Byron Jennings
Russell Emhoff	Mr. Colton	Russell Emhoff
Stanley Tweedy	Mr. Applebee	Stanley Tweedy
Waverley Lindsay	Sammy Fletcher	Waverley Lindsay
Lillian Utter	Mrs. Crane, suffrage leader	Marguerite Andrew
Hazel Payne	Mrs. Colton	Bernice Brooks
Clara Bair	Mrs. Rolliston	Bernice Allphin
Helen Aspend	Mrs. Shipman	Jessie MacGregor
Irene Oliver	Mrs. Applebee	Irene Oliver
Philip Bradbury	Barnes, a constable	Philip Bradbury

PEG O' MY HEART

Directed by Mr. N. E. Reeid.

Both performances of "Peg o' My Heart" were accorded a most tremendous ovation, testifying to the unqualified success of the production. The clever plot, familiar to all, was full of amusing situations and all of the characters were consistently played.

Peg dominated the play from beginning to end and both Irene Oliver and Ruth Stone showed that they were real stars in the role. Peg's Irish brogue, and her none too aristocratic dog, afforded much amusement. Mrs. Chichester, Alaric and Ethel, who vainly tried to bring up the uncouth little Peg, were well portrayed in both performances. Russell Emhoff as Jerry and Waverly Lindsay as Brent played with perfect poise and were convincing in their parts. The character of Mr. Hawkes was very vividly portrayed by Byron Jennings.

CAST A		CAST B
Irene Oliver	Peg	Ruth Stone
Adelaide Sutherland	Mrs. Chichester	Marguerite Andrew
Sydney Allison	Alaric	Sydney Allison
Clara Bair	Ethel	Helen Aspend
Russell Emhoff	Jerry	Russell Emhoff
Waverly Lindsay	Brent	Waverly Lindsay
Byron Jennings	Hawkes	Byron Jennings
Stanley Tweedy	Jarvis	Stanley Tweedy
Faerie Wallace	Maid	Hazel Payne

WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES

The Talamian Literary Society presented this brilliant three-act farce February 18, 1921, under the direction of Miss Hulda Schweer, one of the society's alumni members. The character work in particular was exceptional. Herbert Bergdahl as the conservative professor of anatomy did very consistent and admirable work. During the evening he became the unconscious tool of Jones, a character played by Mr. John Rinehart. Mr. Rinehart had the difficult task of impersonating two characters. His acting was especially clever in his interpretation of the assumed character of the Bishop of Ballarat. NaAmy Hedberg gave a very delicate and pleasing portrayal of the coy spinster sweetheart of Anthony Goodly, D. D. The part of Cissy played by Mayme Reyberg was excellent. Miss Mayme Reyberg was the juvenile of the play and her energy and youthfulness invigorated the already sparkling farce. Eunice Stevens brought many laughs from the audience through her characterization of the stupid and awkward Swedish servant girl.

Splendid acting coupled with intricate plot entanglements and critical situations made the play highly successful.

Cast of Characters

MILESTONES

Directed by Mr. N. E. Reeid.
March 18-19, 1921

"Milestones" was clearly the biggest play of the year. The drama itself, by Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblauch, has created a great sensation and is considered to be one of the mightiest of modern dramas. Its theme is a great one; the urgency of love to possess what is claimed, the emancipation of free thinkers, and the inevitable tendency for the visionaries of the younger generation of today to become the tyrants of tomorrow.

The first milestone is Act I, 1860; the second, Act II, 1885; the third, Act III, 1921. All three acts were staged and costumed according to the vogue of their own day—hoop skirts in Act I, bustles in Act II and the scant silhouettes of our own day in the third. The same characters figure throughout, with additions in each act of members of the younger generation, rebels against tradition and conservatism.

The work of the individual players was more consistent and nearer to professional standards than in any previous play. Mention must be made of the work of Mr. Reeid, who played the role of Old John in Act III with remarkable force and vitality.

SOCIETY

JUNIOR PROM

THE Junior Prom, held April 30, proved to be the most elaborate, and yet the most successful dance of the year. A color scheme of green was carried throughout the decorations. Along the sides and at both ends were large evergreen arches, through which shone rosy lights. The ceiling was also of green with lights shining through. In the center of the floor was a beautiful fountain, adding much to the decorations.

The programs were white, embossed in gold with the seal of the State College of Washington, and strung with a heavy white cord.

MILITARY BALL

THE first All-College formal of the year, the Military Ball, was held in the gymnasium February 25. The decorations were very fitting for the occasion. The background was of red, white and blue, with several machine guns adding to the military effect of the dance.

A feature of the evening was a minuet danced by Marcella Kartheiser and Sydney Allison.

The grand march was led by Cadet Colonel Franzen and Miss Celia McDowell. In the receiving line were:

Colonel Moore N. Falls
Cadet Lieut. Col. Burgess
Miss Leona Ullery

VARSITY BALL

THE COUGAR at one end of the gymnasium, a large electric cougar sign and crimson and gray streamers, helped to make the Varsity Ball, December 3, a successful close to a banner football season. From the balcony were suspended footballs, won by the various college football teams. One of the features of the decorations was a large "W" in evergreens.

The fifth and eleventh dances were reserved for the letter men. The dances were appropriately named as Kickoff and Interference.

The programs were in crimson and gray, with a cougar's head above a crimson "W." On the back were the names of the football men.

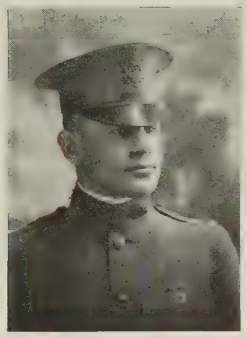
MILITARY



CAPT. SCOTT

EVER since the Civil War there have been certain far-sighted men who have looked upon educational institutions as a source from whence officers of our military forces might be drawn. As a result, Congress has enacted laws which require all the male students attending land grant institutions to devote a small part of their time to military training. The War Department has established at this institution two Infantry Units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, a Senior Unit for students enrolled in College, and a Junior Unit for those in the Elementary Science Department. The purpose is to provide a thorough and systematic training in the fundamentals of Military Science in order to qualify the student to be commissioned in the Reserve Forces of the United States.

The basic course is required of freshmen, sophomores and elementary students, and consists of a two-year course covering the practical and theoretical training of the cadet in military instruction. The advanced course is optional and is open to students who have completed the basic course and have been recommended for further training. It is a two years' course and includes map reading, military sketching, minor tactics, study of Infantry weapons, and other subjects to fit the men for the rank of second lieutenant in the United States Army. Students enrolled in this course receive commutation of subsistence from the Government during the entire course, and while attending camp are paid $30.00 a month.

Summer camps of six weeks' duration are held each summer, open to members of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. Attendance is voluntary for basic course students, but compulsory for students in the advanced course. Uniforms and latest equipment are furnished to the members of the Corps.

Captain Walter T. Scott, Infantry Commandant, came to the State College of Washington in December, 1919.

Five Sergeants of the Regular Army are stationed at the State College of Washington as assistants to the Professor of Military Science and Tactics, First Sergeant Clifford L. Chaipel, Sergeant Homer Fordyce, Sergeant Donald C. Callahan, Sergeant William Tracy and Sergeant Charles Boughan.

THE "Y" OF TODAY

Frequently in the life of every student there comes a time when you need a friend. Generally speaking, one of those times comes with the first days of registration. Especially is it so with the new student who comes to our campus, it is then that they feel for the home ties just broken, it is then that the longing for friends and companionship is most desired. The Y. M. C. A. stands in the place of the friend. It is the aim of the Y. M. C. A. to give the young men of our campus a place to go wherein they can meet, or be met with a smile or a cheery "Hello," a place to go wherein they may find lodging places or work. In other words, the Y. M. C. A. is desirous of filling the spiritual or material needs of the students both young and old.

Amid the activities in which the Y. M. C. A. is engaged, the one deserving the foremost place is that of setting the men of our campus to thinking in terms of Christianity, to bring to them a feeling of the worth of a life founded upon the principles of the MASTER. To aid in the betterment, or promotion of a Christian atmosphere at the State College of Washington, the Y. M. C. A. brought to the campus during the past year such renowned speakers as Fred B. Smith, Sam Higginbotham and H. L. Kingman of national fame in Christian work. Such men will not be forgotten by those who had the opportunity to hear them. It will be the policy of the Y. M. C. A. to continue to serve the campus in the best way possible, and if there is anyone who feels that the Y. M. C. A. has made a better State College Campus, the work has not been in vain.

Y. W. C. A.

The purpose of the Y. W. C. A. is to advance Christianity among the women students of the State College of Washington.

The members are those who are in sympathy with this purpose and who make a personal declaration of allegiance to Christ.

All activities engaged in fulfil this aim.

The Y. W. C. A. also has charge of housing the women students and assisting them in finding positions while in college.

COACHES

DR. J. FRED BOHLER—"Doc," beloved of every lover of the "Alma Mater." For fourteen years "Doc" has been at the helm of Cougar athletics, and although other institutions have tried time and time again to tempt him away, the love of the Crimson and Gray has held him with us. He is a national figure in the world of sports.

GUSTAVIUS A. WELCH—"Gus," in his two years with Washington State, has put his men across with a total of 156 points to his opponents' 33, the first year, and the next year with the Northwest championship. Stands for clean, hard athletics, gets along with his men like a million dollars, and produces the goods.

HARRY A. APPELQUIST—"Hack" finished his fourth year of varsity football in '14 and came back last year to help "Gus" and "Doc" whip the Cougar camp into shape. Recognized as one of the West's leading line coaches. Indispensible to the Cougars who know him, and is coming back next year. A member of the 1915 team that beat Brown.

WALTER HERRIED—"Fat" is another four-year Cougar tackle. Played his last year with the varsity in '19, and worked with Norm Moss to get that Cougar yearling line into a real fighting machine. Likes football and enjoys life generally.

NORMAN MOSS—"Norm," coach of the frosh team last fall, and another Washington State graduate who is taking over more and more of the coaching for the institution. Has been a creditable example of Cougar basketeer, baseball man, as well as griddist. Popular and knows his work from A to Z.

FRED HAMILTON—"Ham"

Captain, veteran of five years of hard football. A capable leader of a great team, and mainstay of the strong Cougar line. Picked on the All-Pacific team and received honorable mention on the All-American. His leadership was always a credit to the team and to the sport. Last year.

EARL DUNLAP—"Dutch"

Captain-elect, and well deserving of the honor. Played his second year as center on one of the strongest teams in the country. Aggressive and a tower of strength in the center of the line. From Dayton, where the boys learn to make good.

LLOYD GILLIS—"Gill"

The mainstay of the fighting backfield that always came through in a pinch. A consistent, plunging fullback that could always be depended upon. Played his fourth and last year of college football. Picked for All-Pacific team. As "Gus" says, "If there ever was an All-American fullback, Gill was it."

RAYMOND KING—"Ray"

One of the biggest and most reliable men on the team. A fighting lineman who always had his opponents guessing. Second year.

FORD DUNTON—"Hopper"

Played his first year of college football like a veteran. Received his experience on last year's Frosh team. A powerful lineman, whom we are depending on for the future.

ROBERT SCHNEBLY—"Bob"

Is said to be the oldest of the twins, mainly because of his hair. A lineman who has played his three years on the team with the true Cougar spirit and fight.

ELDON JENNE—"Stallion"

A shifty, open field runner and owner of that famous punting toe. Hard luck has kept him out of games both years with the varsity. Jenne next year should rate as one of the greatest kickers in the game.

GEORGE BOHANNON—"Boe"

His first year on the team, but a stonewall on the defense. From his end position in the Nebraska battle he nailed many a dangerous Cornhusker in his attempt to outflank the Cougars.

ALBERT DAVIS—"Buck"

A first year man who played in hard luck. Played at half and guard, and always the type of Cougar fighter. One of the hardest hitters on the squad.

LEO MORAN—"Mike"

One of Welch's most powerful halfbacks. Second year on the team and a member of the famous Mare Island team in 1918.

MILO McIVOR—"Pink"

Redheaded and proud of it. Pronounced on the gridiron, as on the basketball floor, to be the scrappiest of the Cougar fighters. Second year in the backfield.

CLARENCE LOOMIS—"Spud"

An all around athlete in his Sophomore year. Played end and in the Montana game proved that he was an essential to Cougar first lineup. A man who doesn't fail.

LeROY HANLEY—"Roy"

One of the original. Has been given All-Coast and All-Northwest honors and was given honorable mention on the All-American. Has played his last.

HAROLD HANLEY—"Bones"

Showed up big at end in his second year with the team. Seems to have been born to play with the pigskin—and he is good looking.

MOE SAX—"Gunny"

Makes a specialty of spinning his way through the strongest lines. Tacklers fall off him like water from a duck's back. Played his first year, but handled the team from quarterback like a veteran.

FRANK SKADAN—"Curley"

Curley's passing and field generalship played a big part in the comeback that swamped the Cornhuskers. Second year at quarter.

WALLACE McKAY—"Bud"

When they hit Bud—they stop. Plays guard and is one of the strongest and most reliable men that Gus has lined up for next year. Has a real future on the gridiron. This was his first year.

ROY SANDBERG—"Sandy"

A fighting half that is hard to stop. Played his first year of Varsity football, and we expect lots from "Our Cougar" in the future. We know that we are going to get it.

HARRY GEORGE—

A hard worker that won his letter by plain work and toil. Had the fight that made him a valuable man both on the defense and offense. Played either guard or tackle. First and last year on the Cougar Varsity.

SUBSTITUTES

Men who took the long trips, but who did not get the coveted "W"

LESLIE TROMANHAUSER—"Trom"
A big linesman who seems to tear into the game for the sake of the battle itself. Not in quite enough to win the "W." First year on the team and took the California trip.

CHARLES JANS—"Yens"
Harmless looking until he starts to go, and then look out. Played in the line and hits it hard. Expected to fill a big hole in the teams in the future. Took the Nebraska trip.

JOHN STACKHOUSE—"Johnny"
Played center for the Freshmen in 1919 and last fall came out strong for the Varsity. Filled Dunlap's place creditably whenever he got in. He was with the team in California.

WILLIAM WINANS—"Scrapiron"
Filled anybody's shoes at halfback in Varsity style in the Montana game and afterwards, too. One of the hardest workers on the squad and should have a great year in 1921. He took the Nebraska trip.

CHARLES WEBSTER—"Chuck"
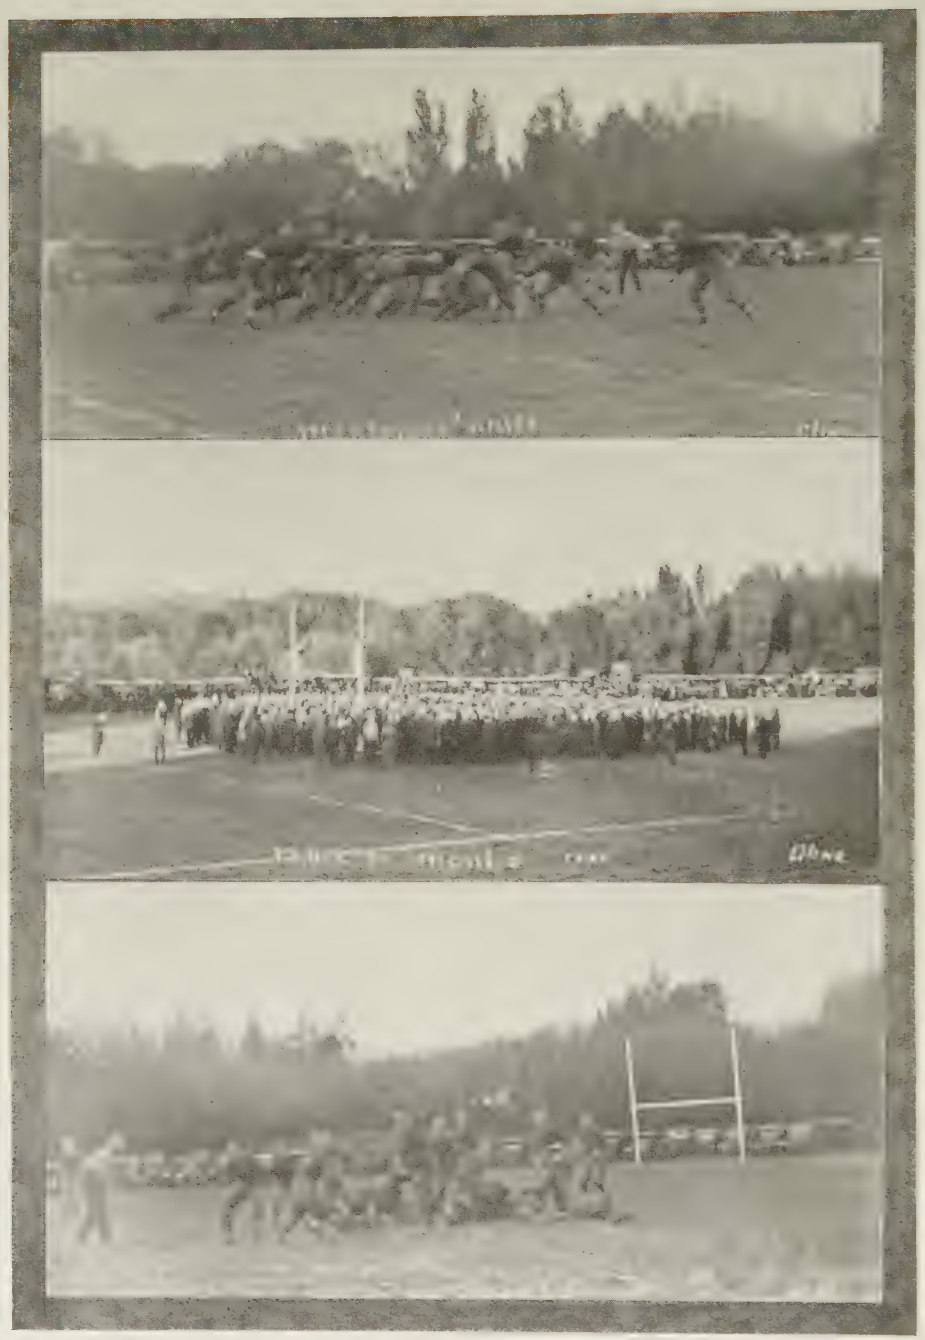
Subbed at fullback all season and Welch is figuring on him to help fill the gap that Gillis will leave when he goes next fall. Took the California trip.



FOOTBALL

Football prospects for the State College attained a rosy appearance in September, 1920, with fifteen huskies out and each hitting the line for a place on the Varsity squad. Among them were ten letter men and many other veterans of the gridiron.

All the positions seemed sure to be well filled with at least two good men aspiring for every place. At first the need of a punter was felt, but the timely arrival of Jenne and his phenomenal kicking saved the situation.

The metal of the Cougars was tried early in the season, when on October 2nd they met a strong aggregation of grads and veterans of former years. The spirit of the college showed itself and the Varsity rambled out on the long end of a 29 to 0 score.

The following Saturday the Crimson and Gray pounded their way to victory through the Bulldog line and humbled Gonzaga's pride to the tune of 35 to 0.

This victory was good preparation for the next game, the following week, with our ancient rivals, the University of Idaho. In the first half the opposing team was one touchdown ahead, but by constant line bucks our backfield put two touchdowns across in the second period and threatened to make another when the whistle blew.

With Idaho safely vanquished, the Cougars faced the supposedly tremendous task of subduing the Montana Bruins, who came to Pullman with an impressive string of victories to their credit. The famous Minnesota shift failed to work, and Washington State romped home with another victory, this one by the one-sided score of 31 to 0.

Then came California and disaster to Washington's hopes for the coast conference championship. Fumbles and failure to come through with the punch at the critical moments cost the Cougars the game on November the sixth in California territory. Washington State made more yardage than their rivals but lost by a score of 49 to 0.

Faced with the almost impossible task of re-establishing the shattered morale, the team came back the following Saturday and defeated the Oregon "Aggies." Throughout, the game was an exhibition of hard, straight football and the squad worked like a well oiled machine. With some of the best men on the bench the outcome was doubtful but the men that were substituted played in stellar style, and put over four touchdowns, and by kicking every goal, made the score 28 to 0.

On Thanksgiving Day the Cougars capped the climax and finished the season by defeating Nebraska 21 to 20. It was a grueling game, Washington State scoring only one touchdown until the last few minutes of play. In rapid succession they put over two touchdowns and kicked goal both times. It was a fitting close for a football season, which has brought additional renown to Washington State and added prestige to the Pacific Coast on the gridiron.

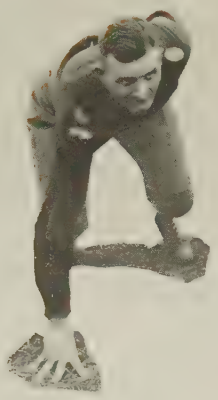
1920 FOOTBALL SQUAD



IN naming Lloyd Gillis as one of the three Washington State men of the mythical Pacific Coast All-Star team, George Varnell writes: "He is without doubt the hardest hitting back in the conference. Always good for short gains and more than often for long ones. With his wonderful drive he has defensive ability. Even in the slaughter of the California game, Gillis was a star."

Fred Hamilton was rated in the guard position with Majors of the Golden Bears. As Varnell says, "Hamilton played a tackle at W. S. C., but his strength made him too valuable a player to leave off the lineup. His performance was consistently good throughout the season and his performance stamped him a first-class gridder."

The pivot position was given to Earl Dunlap over Smith of Washington, Latham of California, and Righter of Stanford. "All four men," says Varnell, "are of exceptional calibre and seldom does the conference show as much class in the position as it did this season. Dunlap is not only a wonderful passer and keen defensive player, but he is one of the few centers who can pass the ball, go down the field and make tackles or punts." This is the second time that "Dutch" has won the honor.

Considering the infrequency with which western men are named for any national gridiron honors, it is a real distinction that Walter Camp gave All-American honorable mention to two Cougars—LeRoy Hanley and Fred Hamilton.

Both Captain "Ham" and "Gil" finished their four years of service for the Crimson and Gray with the glorious Cougar comeback of 21 to 20 over the favorite Nebraskan Cornhuskers in the famous turkey-day battle at Lincoln. "Dutch" will be back to captain the Cougars next fall. LeRoy Hanley started his fourth year for Washington State, but was declared ineligible before the season was completed.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

FIVE straight victories, unmarred by a single defeat, is the record of last fall's Frosh eleven—a record of which the class of 1924 and the whole student body is justly proud.

The figures tell the story. North Central was the first to fall victim. In spite of a plucky fight by the Spokane aggregation, October 16, on Rogers Field, the Frosh piled up a score of 28 to 0. When, the following Saturday, the strong Sophomore team, with numerous Varsity men in their lineup, came off the field defeated, 12 to 7, the first year men's reputation as the "fighting frosh" was fixed for good.

As if to vindicate the faith W. S. C. held in them, Coach Norm Moss's men swamped the Idaho Frosh to the tune of 41 to 0 when they met for a curtain-raiser for the Montana game October 30. A still higher score, 48 to 7, marked the Lewis and Clark game at Spokane the following Saturday. The crowning victory of a really brilliant season was made on Denny field, Seattle, against the University of Washington yearlings, with a score of 18 to 6.

Totaled, the season's scores show 148 points for the Freshmen and 20 for their opponents. Coach Welch will find world's of material for his Varsity lineup next fall from the first year men of the past season.

The men lined up as follows: Center—L. R. Crow and A. I. Doust. Guards—H. M. Huffman, E. W. Roberson, Sam Farmer and C. S. Wetzel. Tackles—P. J. Kramer and A. L. Hamilton. Ends—H. T. Cook, A. M. Keefe, L. C. Cook, G. W. Beneke and J. C. Crosby. Quarterback—B. S. Fenton and E. H. Alexander. Halfback—Verne Hickey (Captain), J. N. Zaepfel and R. Q. Fisher. Fullback—J. H. Hayes and Egbert Ward.

BASKETBALL

CAPTAIN McIVOR

"DOC" BOHLER

MILO McIVOR—"Pink"

Captain, made of the stuff that never quits. Hardest fighter of the team and seemed to be everywhere on the floor. Was a heavy scorer as a running guard and an accurate shot from the foul line. Third and last year.

RICHARD CISNA—"Dick"

A lithe, lanky Cougar who always keeps his own head and makes a specialty of getting the other fellow's goat. Played his second year as a fighting center.

McCLELLAN ROCKEY—"Chick"

Anywhere on the forward half of the floor was his field of operations. Had to hustle to keep up with his reputation as an All-Coast man. Last year.

WILLIAM KING—"Bill"

Second year. Not a star yet, but a man who always went in with the faith of Crimson and Gray behind him. Alternated with Cisna at center.

CLARENCE LOOMIS—"Spud"

His guarding was the feature of the victory over the Sundodgers. A real athlete, hard working, steady and speedy—and a man who will be a boon to Washington State in his remaining years here.

BRYAN FRIEL—"Jack"

Played his first year of Varsity ball, but from the start he was depended upon for heavy scoring. A hard worker and played forward.

ERNEST BURKE—"Ernie"

Another first year man. Doubtful at first, but proved a good man to make up combinations. Was in the game frequently at forward and center.

MARTCIL KOTULA—"Tulie"

Ineligible in the Coast Conference games because of three years of previous service. His close guarding, fast and aggressive floorwork was a real help in the Northwest games.

REVIEW OF THE BASKETBALL SEASON

With five letter men in school, last year's Frosh team, and several subs of considerable experience, basketball loomed as a sport in which Washington State would grab great honors.

The season started with a bang. Practice was well under way before the holidays and during the first part of vacation the squad took a Coast trip in which they showed up well. The S. A. A. C., Bellingham, Linden, and Sedro-Wooley were all taken into camp while the team lost its first game to Ellensburg.

Then came the first real test with Idaho. The Cougars had the fight that was necessary to bring home the bacon and displayed a brand of basketball that would have been creditable to any team. The return game at Moscow did not prove so successful and Idaho came out with the long end of the score. From then on things went bad for the Washington State quintet. Combinations that should have been world beaters did not get working together. Doc's efforts to find new combinations improved things for a while but would not last.

Thus the season went on. Winning some games but losing more. In the Stanford game the Cougars started off like the championship team of '16. The first half ended with a big lead for Washington State only to lose the game by a close margin. On the final Coast trip things went the same way for the Cougars. Several extra periods were necessary but they seemed to be disastrous for Washington State.

McIvor, Rockey and Kotula played their last for Washington State and were granted the coveted "W" blanket. Next year with men of the calibre of Cisna, King, Loomis, Friel, Sorenson, and Burke and with Frosh to fill in a prosperous season is expected.

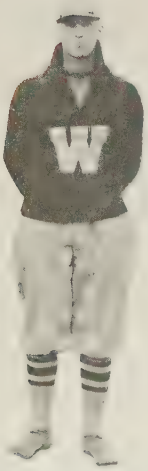
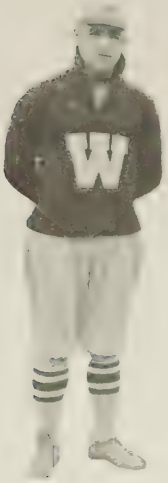
BASEBALL

"DOC" BOHLER
Coach



NORBERT KULZER
Captain



LE ROY HANLEY
Captain-Elect

CAPTAIN KULZER

Served three years in the pitcher's box, and was always a reliable man in the outfield when not on the mound. Played his last season of college ball and played it well.

CAPTAIN-ELECT HANLEY

Roy proved to be one of the fastest fielders in the conference. Covered third base like a professional, although it was only his second year on the team. Led the squad with stick work with a percentage around .300.

LEWIS

"Busher" thinks, eats and drinks baseball. A heady player that pitched winning games three years for Washington State. Too valuable a man to be kept on the bench so was usually given a place in the field when not called upon to pitch.

ROCKEY

"Chick" thinks as well as moves around the keystone bag. A fair peg to second and a runner is usually out. Rockey is an old head that is a help to any team.

COOK

Clyde threw fast balls to opposing batsmen three years for the Varsity. A pitcher that had smoke to burn. Played his last year for Washington State.

MORGAN

There is one noticeable thing about "Hal's" playing—when he hits, he hits. Played his second year in the outfield on the Varsity.

MULLER

A first baseman that has covered the sack for three years. "Al" was one of the leaders with the stick and is a good man both at bat and in the field.

MORAN

Toward the first of the season "Mike" was unbeatable when in the box. He also proved an exception to the rule "a pitcher cannot hit." Played right field when not on the mound.

GRAHAM

A big backstop that could reach for anything. Was particularly good with his line of chatter to get a batter fussed. Played his first and last year of Varsity ball.

KING

Played a consistent game at short, and helped make our infield one of the best in the Conference. A man that could be used in the box in a pinch.

WATSON

A change catcher with Graham. Worked with Lewis and the two made an invincible battery. Short to be behind the bat, but fast and wiry.

BENSON

The missing link in the outfield. "Sheep" had very few errors chalked against him and was also a good man with the willow. Second and last year of varsity ball.

THE TEAM

REVIEW OF BASEBALL SEASON

A LATE, wet spring delayed Coach Schroeder in developing prospective material to the best advantage, but in spite of the bad weather prospects looked very good for a winning season. With a strong line of heavy hitters, the coach had plenty of material to pick from for every position.

On April 26th the Cougars played their first game against the University of Idaho, winning 12 to 9. The following day the Cougars journeyed to Moscow, but this time to return with the small end of a 18 to 9 score.

The State College next lined up against the Oregon "Aggie" team on Rogers field for two games that brought gloom to the Cougars. The visitors had left with the big end of the score for both games. Scores: 7 to 5 and 8 to 4.

The first of May found the Cougar diamond men on the coast. In the first game they left the University of Washington with the small end of a 5-4 score, when LeRoy Hanley pounded out a homer in the ninth inning. The University came back strong the next day and left the Cougars nursing a 7 to 4 defeat.

At Corvallis, Coach Schroeder's men took the first game 3 to 0, leaving the next one for the Oregon "Aggies," score 6 to 0.

The University of Oregon dealt out two hard blows to the tune of 10 to 5 and 7 to 3. This left the Cougars bidding for the cellar championship, until at Walla Walla they took two games from the Missionaries at the rate of 3 to 0 and 13 to 0.

At Pullman a week later the Cougars still held the lead over the Missionaries by winning the two game series on Rogers field with the scores of 23 to 5 and 10 to 8.

The next series was with the University of Montana on Rogers field. The result of the first game was uncertain, until in the last three innings, the Cougars took the lead and won 9 to 4. The second game was much closer going to the University by a score of 4 to 3.

In the return games at Missoula, Coach Schroeder's men were unable to stop the onslaught of the Montana team and lost three games straight, 15 to 6, 9 to 8, and 6 to 3.

The season closed late in the school year when the University of Idaho trimmed the Cougars, this time for both games of the series.

"JIT" SMITH
Captain

ELDON JENNE
Captain-Elect

CHARLES SMITH—

Captain—One of the best two milers in the Coast or Northwest Conference. Always sure to grab a place in this event. Lots of endurance and plenty of speed. Fourth year on the team.

ELDON JENNE—

Captain-Elect—Broke all conference records and almost equalled the world's record when he vaulted 13 feet 1 inch. One of the College's best athletes and a most consistent trainer. Usually places in the jumps as well as in the vault.

OVERMAN HOWELL—

A first rater in the hurdles. Almost certain to place and take a big share of the honors in this event. Second year on the team.

FLOYD RATCHFORD—

"Ratch" proved to be one of Doc's most dependable men. Ran the Mile, Half or Quarter with equal ability. Won points in all the meets that he entered. Third year on the squad.

"AL" MILLER—

The veteran of the squad and a dashman that made anybody go to reach the tape ahead of him. Played in hard luck by pulling a tendon early in the season. Ran his last year for Washington State.

FRANCIS ROWLEE—

One of the best distance runners in the conference. Generally placed in the mile and two mile events. Second year on the team.

RAY KING—

A man who like his brother is a sure bet for the shot and discus. Can be counted on for points in any meet. First year to make a letter.

CARL KING—

A sure bet for the shot and discus. Always cops a big share of these events. A man with lots of weight and plenty of push.

LEVI SUTTON—

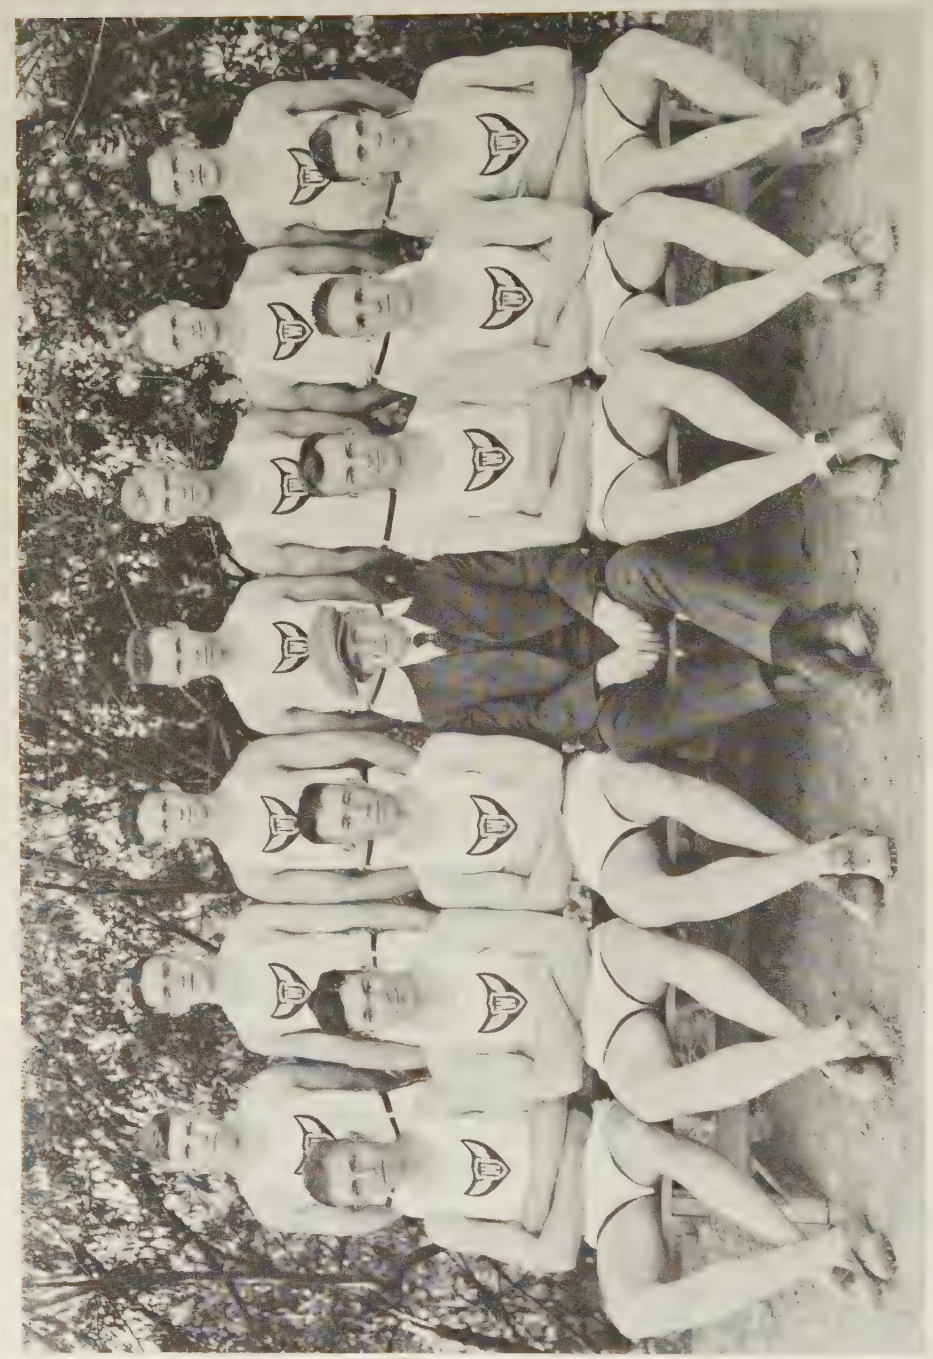
Like Calder he was unable to win his letter for the second time. A close running mate of "Al" Miller's and a fast man that must be taken into consideration in any meet. Ran his last year.

CLARK CALDER—

A letter man of previous years who was unable to get in shape. Valuable on the squad for his 440 and relay ability.

FRED HAMILTON—

"Ham" proved to be as reliable in track as he is on the gridiron. A man who is always sure of points in the weight events. Placed in both the discus and javelin.



THE TEAM

1920 TRACK SEASON

THE lack of new material and the absence of early training facilities gave Washington State a bad start in track. Nevertheless, by hard and persistent work "Doc" Bohler turned out a team that made a favorable showing in the four big meets of the year.

In the Pacific Coast Conference meet at Palo Alto, the California schools easily demonstrated their superiority, because of weather conditions which enabled them to be in the pink of condition while the Northern schools were just starting training.

Many records were broken in this meet. Jenne cleared the bar at 13-⅝ and "Jit" Smith set the two mile record at 9-53. Washington State took fourth in the meet.

The first meet of the season was with the University of Washington at Seattle. Washington State came out on the short end of a 77 to 54 score. Howell was high point winner for the Crimson and the Gray.

The next red letter event of the track season was the dual meet with our "friendly rivals" the University of Idaho. The score stood 68-½ to 62-½ in favor of the State College.

The last meet of the season came on Roger's Field and included all of the Northwest conference schools. Jenne was not satisfied with his record of the California meet and established the new record of 13-1. The University of Oregon won the meet with 36 points. Oregon Agricultural College followed with 33 and Idaho with 30. The University of Washington came fourth and Washington State fifth.

The absence of sprinters was felt throughout the season, Miller and Sutton being relied upon to do all the work. In the weights the College was well represented by Hamilton and King, while the hurdles were taken care of by Howell.

Captain "Jit" Smith ran his last season for Washington in tip-top style winning every two-mile event. Ratchford also did his share by winning 16 points. Eldon Jenne, won distinction for himself and the College by being chosen to represent the United States in the Olympic Games at Antwerp, Belgium.

FRESHMAN TRACK SQUAD

1920 FRESHMAN TRACK

WITH the opening of the 1920 track season there was a turnout of over twenty-five men from the class of 1924. The interest and spirit shown in the sport was a credit to the Freshman class and to the competing men. Much good material was discovered by the coach and it is expected that winning Varsity men of the future will be from this group.

The following men composed the team.

Sprints—Davis, Herman and Fitzsimmons.
Jumps and hurdles—Loomis and Lincoln.
Distance—Michel, Christianson and Heuer.
Weights—McKay and Lincoln.

WRESTLING

FRANK LOGAN

Fourth year on the squad but the second year for a letter. A man who is a little short of 125 pounds but who wrestles in 125 pound class on account of the college ruling. Able to s and considerable punishment and a clever man on the defense.

ALBERT HANSEN

First year on the team but a clever man. Wrestling in the 125 pound class along with Logan.

"Shorty" LORRAINE BOGGS

Showed up after the season was under way and turned out in his old form. A wrestler who specializes in wrestling. Second year on the team.

RICHARD TYSON

Dick is a new man on the team but showed up well in the first meet of the year by grabbing the largest number of points of any other man on the team.

SIGUARD GULDJORD

First year on the team but a hard man to throw. A man who won points in every bout that he entered.

CHARLES C. GAY

Second year on the squad but always before out-lucked for his letter. Wrestled in stellar style in the second meet with Idaho and piled up 6 points for W. S. C.

IRA NICHOLSON

A big man with plenty of fight but out-lucked during the season. Wrestled in the 175 pound class. First year on the team.

LLOYD MOSS

First year on the team but a hard fighter with the old bulldog tenacity. Wrestled in the 135 pound class.

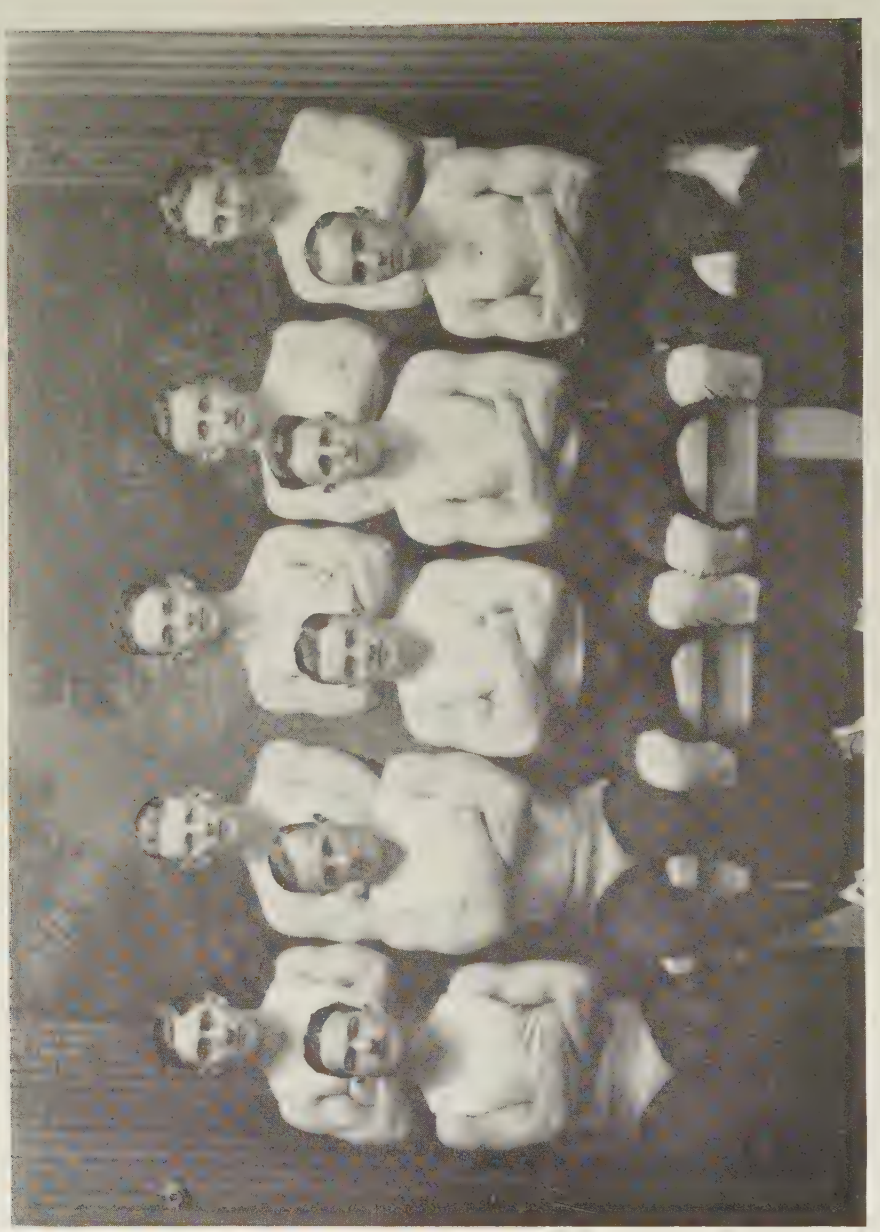
THE WRESTLING CAPTAINCY

Immediately following the 1919 wrestling season, Leslie Tromanhauser was elected team captain. During the present season Doc Bohler received and accepted his resignation. Since that time there has been no captain elected, Coach Grant fulfilling the duties.



THE TEAM

TENNIS

HEALD

SMITH

WITH no letter men in school, a lack of interest, and no courts upon which to practice, the prospects for a good tennis season looked bad. However a team was picked to compete in the two scheduled meets; a dual meet with Whitman and a triangular meet with Idaho and Whitman at Moscow. At Walla Walla all three singles matches and the double matches were lost to Whitman. At Moscow, Washington State came out victorious in the singles but again lost the doubles to Whitman.

This placed the State College first in singles and second in doubles; Whitman first in doubles and second in singles; and the University third.

The singles team was composed of Webber, Smith, and Heald; Smith being the only second year man. Webber and Heald played the doubles.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

Mrs. Fuller

Mary McKee

Mayme McDonald

Susie Fisher

THE work of the Woman's Physical Education Department of the State College of Washington reaches all the women enrolled in the institution. There are six hundred and fifty women who are taking gymnasium work, including gymnastics, dancing, games, and sports. Besides these there are sixteen students majoring in the department.

Since the beginning of the fall semester, the department has been under the direction of a new faculty, with the exception of Miss Allen.

Miss Mary McKee, head of the department, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and has done advanced graduate work at Teacher's College, Columbia University. Miss McKee also taught physical education at the University of Wisconsin and was director of summer schools at the University of Michigan. She has done a great deal toward improving the physical education course and placing the department on a firm basis.

Miss Charlotte MacDougall, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, was in the department the first semester. Her place was taken by Mrs. Constance Fuller, a graduate of Kingsfield College, the oldest college of physical education for women in England. Mrs. Fuller was chosen as fullback on the English Women's hockey team which played a series of games in New Zealand and Australia. During the war she was a member of Queen Mary's Auxiliary Corps.

Miss Gladys Allen, who was dancing instructor for the past three semesters, is a graduate of the Chicago Normal School of Physical Education and the Chaliff and Denishawn Schools of Dancing.

Miss Susie Fisher, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, had charge of the dancing classes during the second semester. Miss Fisher has introduced interpretive dancing on the campus.

Miss Mayme McDonald, who is a graduate of the University of Washington, is assistant instructor in the department and has charge of women's athletics. Miss McDonald has made a name for herself in tennis circles. She holds the championship of Washington, Oregon and the Inland Empire and was runner up for the Northwest Championship in the finals of 1920.

The Physical Education Department plays a prominent part in furthering activities on the campus. Among these, during the past year, were Health Week, the Activity Contest, the Dancing Recital and the May Fete.

Inter-class tournaments are scheduled in the various sports, beginning with hockey in the fall. This sport lasts until after Thanksgiving, when the basketball season opens. Basketball is followed by indoor and outdoor baseball, track and tennis. These are all held in the spring.

Attempts are being made to introduce other sports and to give points for quoits, archery, apparatus work and dancing.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

THE purpose of the Women's Athletic Association is to promote physical efficiency among the women of the State College by fostering an interest in gymnastics and athletic activities.

The association is governed by a council composed of officers of the association, a representative from each class, one member representing each activity, for which awards are given, and the physical director of women.

A new constitution was adopted by W. A. A. this year. Requirements for membership are one hundred and fifty points and a good scholastic standing. Members are required to participate in one sport a season. The point system, and the basis for awarding Crimson "W" sweaters, were also revised.

Bess Shoemake, Clara Hefty, Jean Campbell, and Mrs. Katherine Ross Howell were sent as representatives by W. A. A. to the Northwest Women's Athletic Conference held in Seattle in the spring of 1920.

Bess Shoemake represented the State College at the National Women's Athletic Conference held at Bloomington, Indiana, March 18 and 19, 1921.

CRIMSON "W" CLUB

The Crimson "W" sweater is the highest award made in women's athletics. It stands, not so much for unusual ability in one sport, as for a high proficiency in athletics in general. Crimson "W" sweaters are awarded to those earning 800 points.

Awards are made in hockey, basketball, indoor and outdoor baseball, cross-country, track, tennis, apparatus work, and dancing.

Crimson "W" Club cooperated with Gray "W" Club in putting on the first Health Week to be held on this campus in March, 1920.

This year Crimson "W" held the first annual Girls' Costume Jamboree. The affair was very much of a success. A co-ed orchestra furnished the music, and stunts were supplied by various women's organizations.

BESS SHOEMAKE, a senior in Physical Education, was president of W. A. A. during the past year, and represented the college at the 1921 National W. A. A. Conference at Bloomington, Indiana.

CLARA HEFTY, a senior in Physical Education, was vice-president of W. A. A. during the past year, and was one of the delegates to the 1920 Sectional Conference at Seattle.

MARJORIE DUFFIN, a junior in Physical Education, won her sweater during her freshman year, and has been a consistent participator in athletics since that time.

LOIS COMSTOCK, a junior, has taken an active part in athletics throughout her college course, and in her sophomore year won the right to wear the Crimson "W" sweater.

GLADYS BECK, a junior in Physical Education, won her sweater during her freshman year and was president of Crimson "W" Club during the past year.

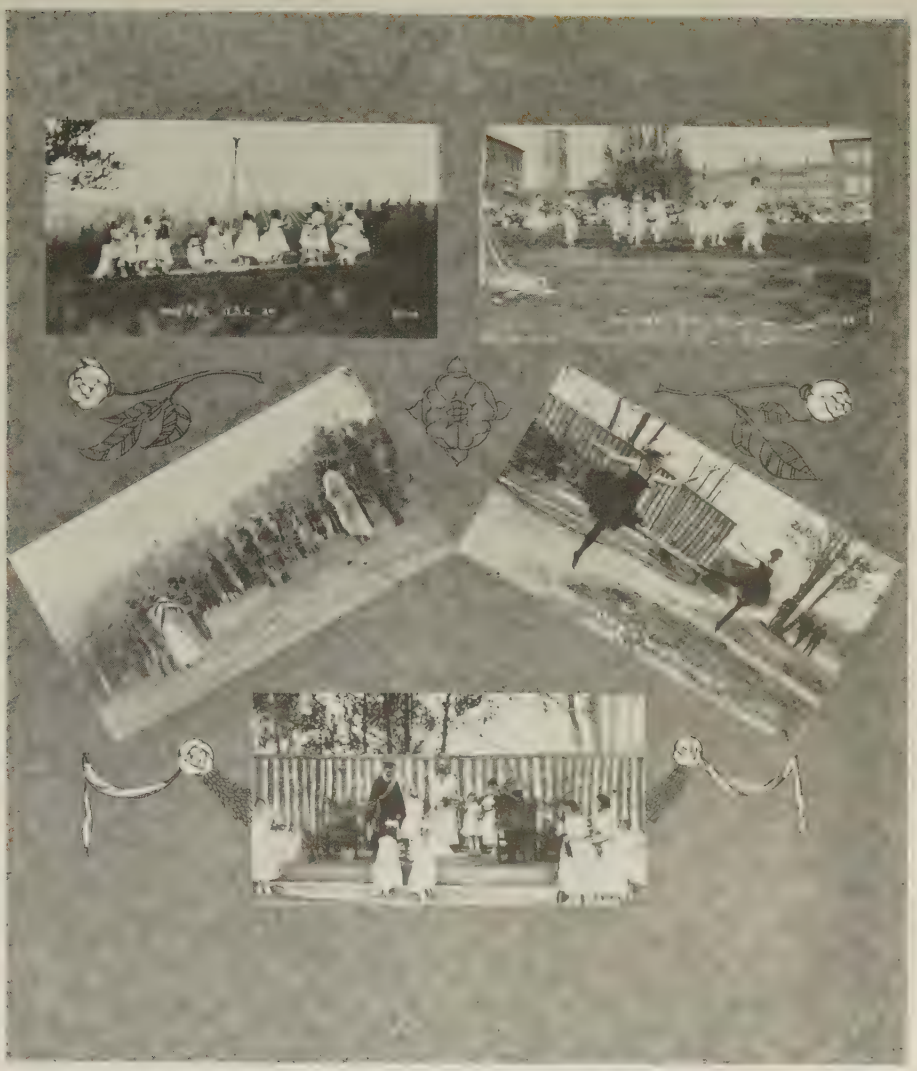
LILLIAN STUART, a junior, and an active member of W. A. A., won her sweater during her sophomore year.

ACTIVITY CONTEST

THE Activity Contest was held on Campus Day on Rogers Field. This was the first event of the kind to be held on the campus and was very successful. The trophy cup was won by the freshmen women 72 2-3 to 61 1-3. The cup was presented to Catherine Matthews, freshmen athletic representative by Ex-President William Howard Taft.

The contest was between the sophomore and freshmen women and consisted of marching, dancing, mimetic drills, aesthetic dancing, and three track events, a fifty yard dash, a basketball throw, and a relay race. Gladys Beck, sophomore, won first place in the fifty yard dash, Olive Prichard and Pauline Endres, both freshmen, winning second and third places. In the basket ball throw Reva Doubravsky, freshman, won first place with Virginia Shaw, freshman, and Lillian Stuart, sophomore, placing second and third. The relay race was won by the freshmen.

Both classes were entered in all events. The work was coached by the following majors in Physical Education: Gladys Beck, Marjorie Duffin, Leita Brandt, and Dorothea Sorenson for the sophomores and Maud Jolin, Clara Hefty, Bess Shoemake, and Elsie Durr for the freshmen. Judges of the contest were Dean Rhoda M. White, Dean A. A. Cleveland, and Dr. J. F. Bohler.



MAY FETE

THE ANNUAL May Fete was presented under the auspices of the W. W. C. A. In the future, however, it is to be under the direction of the Physical Education Department. Dora Lewis was crowned Queen of the May before a large crowd of spectators. Following the coronation ceremonies, a historical pageant, depicting the Lewis and Clark Expedition, was given. The tents of Lewis and Clark and the tepees of the Indians made a beautiful setting on the State College Campus. The sunrise dancers in their effective costumes, and the Indian dancers were especially enjoyable.

Mary Pentland was in charge of all arrangements for the May Fete. The dancers were instructed by Miss Gladys Allen, and Miss Irene Oliver directed the production of the pageant.

DANCING RECITAL

THE FIRST dancing recital given at the State College of Washington in the last two years was put on by Miss Allen's dancing classes. The program was entitled "The Cycle of the Dance," and presented an evolution of the dance from the Egyptian types down to the modern stage. Attractive costumes and special lighting effects added to the beauty of the numbers. The dances were gracefully executed and much credit it due Miss Gladys Allen, instructor in dancing, for the success of the program.

HEALTH WEEK

Health Week, the first to be held on the campus, proved not only a success but a benefit to the community. It was sponsored by the Crimson "W" and the Gray "W" Clubs and was a part of the nation-wide program for better health. A splendid series of lectures were given and a number of educational films were shown. Free examinations were made of teeth, eyes, nose, throat and chest. Orthopaedic examinations were made and prints were taken to show the shape of toes and arch. Physical efficiency tests were given which included weight, height, lung capacity, blood pressure and accuracy tests.

The exhibits and posters attracted a great deal of attention but chief among these were the model and unsanitary student rooms and the shoe exhibits. Other exhibits included those of hygienic clothing, healthful furniture, correct lighting systems and suggestions for sick and rest rooms.

All members of the Crimson "W" and Gray "W" Clubs took a keen interest in the success of the program. They were aided by the physical education majors and especially by the untiring efforts of Mrs. Katherine Ross Howell, head of the Physical Education Department.

TENNIS

PERHAPS the most popular of the spring sports is Tennis. Especially was this true during the spring of 1920, when exceptionally keen rivalry was exhibited to make places on the different class teams. The championship of the school was won by the class of 1923, the team being composed of Virginia Shaw and Ethel Rogell.

The other teams were; Juniors, Margaret Gormely, and Orlou Ganson; Sophomores, Bertha Boehme and Lillian Stuart.

The singles held to decide upon the members of the honor team resulted in the selection of Bertha Boehme and Ethel Rogell.

The American College Quill Club is a national organization founded for the purpose of fostering and directing the growing interest of American college students in the field of creative and constructive literary effort. Quill differs from its Greek letter contemporaries in being non-secret, and in subordinating the social to the academic interests. Local chapters are designated by symbols of the Anglo-Saxon Runic alphabet, and society ceremonials and rituals are interpretive of English literary and linguistic development.

Gyfu Rune, of the State College of Washington, was formally installed June 7, 1920, Professor Nelson Antrim Crawford, Chancellor of the High Witan officiating. Bi-monthly meetings are devoted by the members to discussion of problems encountered in the course of their work, and to mutual and helpful criticism, supplemented by talks from specialists in allied arts, such as music, architecture, and design. These activities find public expression in the Glebe, the college literary quarterly published under the direction of the Quill Club.

The All-Ag Club was organized in the spring of 1919. Its membership comprises all the students enrolled in agriculture. The All-Ag fair in the fall and the mock show and the sale in the spring are under the auspices of the club, as well as the entertainment of the county agents during their meeting at the state college in the winter. Men of state wide prominence give instructive talks to the club which tend to show the agricultural students the more practical side of the agricultural industry of the state. The purpose of the club is to bring the students together in closer touch with the agricultural problems of the state and to boost the college of agriculture.

HISTORY OF THE DAIRY CLUB

Early in May 1916, a meeting of the students interested in Dairying was called by Professor A. B. Nystrom, head of the Department of Dairying, and at this meeting the Dairy Club was organized.

The purpose of the organization is to promote a closer relationship between students and instructors, and to supplement class instruction with the discussion of topics pretaining to the dairy industry.

At the All-Ag fair held in the fall of every year, a department exhibit put on under the management of the Dairy club won second prize. Members of the Dairy Club take an active part in all affairs that are of interest to the College of Agriculture. At the annual Live Stock Show and Mock Sale held every spring a large number of the animals exhibited are fitted by dairy students. In the fall of every year one of the best all-College dances is staged under the auspices of the Dairy Club.

In 1919 a dairy stock judging team competed at the National Dairy Show in Chicago. It is of interest to note that a member of this team. Joe Knott, was the first president of the Dairy Club. In 1920 another team competed at the National Dairy Show. The Dairy Club paid a small portion of the expenses of this team.

The Engineers of the State College of Washington is an organization formed to promote the best interests of the college and especially those related to engineering. The Engineers also aim to promote good fellowship among the engineering students and to interest them in campus activities.

The Engineers' Evergreen is an annual publication which outlines a few of the activities of the engineers both in and out of school. St. Patrick's day is celebrated by the engineers as the birthday of their patron saint.

The social side is well cared for by an annual All-College dance and numerous banquets and luncheons throughout the year, at which many prominent men in the Engineering world are entertained.

AMONG THE BROTHERS

THETA XI

Dear Joe:

At last we've landed Theta Xi. If it hadn't been for a few E. E.'s pulling wires in the right direction, we might still be where we were when you were here. We hold a controlling interest in Sigma Tau and serenade the first and third Sunday of each month. Our house reminds everyone of the old proverb about not throwing stones, but we find that it isn't so much the stones as the glances that people throw our way. Some folks call this the "Bug" house, judging from the number of ramshackle gasoline carts the brothers have parked in the driveway. Everybody wants to know why we don't build on that foundation, of ours and some day we'll get mad and tell them that it takes just as much money for us to build a house as it does the Sigma Nu's and goodness knows how long they've been thinking about it. Spring has came, and the brothers are doing their darndest to forget spark plugs, piston rings and cotter pins, long enough to interpret the gentle glances of the eager co-eds whose thoughts run along the lines of sparking, diamond rings and frat pins.

Our hopes are all for the future.

THETA XI.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Dear Staggs:

We haven't much time to spend writing to you now, for several reasons, the first being that we spend all our spare moments trying to beat Kappa Sig's time at the Theta house. Another reason is that we have to do a lot of rushing. You see, as soon as we initiate a man, he leaves, so it takes most of our time to hold up the morale of the chapter. We are doing our best to equal Sigma Nu's speed record and through the efforts of Ted Atwater, our big noise, we are running them a close second. Pledge Gholson, the fraternity butcher, makes a big hit at all the sorority houses. Thru a bit of clever wire pulling we managed to land our aspiring journalist, Ralph Noerenberg, a place as editor of the twice-a-week Bugle, which greatly delighted him. Did you know that we are thinking of having our chapter house remodelled? Mr. McDermott has offered to do it free of charge as he says our five types of dormer windows annoy him. We don't mind 'em, but if we can get anything for nothing, why not?

Yours for speed,
SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Dear Hank:

The brothers suggested we catch up in our correspondence before baseball season begins. After that we'll be kept busy keeping all the fellows in good with the powers that be. We're still living in our English mansion which overlooks the stockyards, and we still hold guardianship of the golden stairs, although nobody ever took any of us for Saint Peter yet. A few more seasons of spring track walkers will finish the stairs, and this, added that the fellows are weary of acting as the Tri Delt fire department may mean that we'll move nearer the Alpha Chi's. Entertainment has been cheap this winter, as we managed to get our dates taken away on account of an innocent violation of rules, by dancing till only 2:30 during the Thanksgiving vacation. Sleighing was good, though, and as our bob-sled is still the best in Pullman, we pulled through fine. If the turbulent Palouse doesn't rise in its bed and wash us off the map, we'll be here to entertain you at our next informal, decorations to be something new, purple, green and gold streamers, you know—fraternity colors. We're afraid somebody will forget what they are if we don't display them every chance we get. We're losing out in the pin-placing activity as only 24 of our fellows got engaged this year, but then they are becoming more permanent as only 15 of the fellows got their pins back, so far.

Fraternally,
THE LAMBDA CHI BASEBALL CLUB.

SIGMA CHI

Dear Cook:

Old Sigma Chi is still in the running, racing neck and neck with Kappa Sig for pledges, just to give ourselves prominence. Having pledged Kimball, we've got a good drag out of L. C. H. S. Our morals are still perfect and we have a ninety-nine year lease on the front seat in the M. E. Sunday School. Our plate glass windows lure the frosh to gaze upon the opulence within and wish they were on the inside looking out.

We are one of the big three that head the foot of the scholarship list,—our sky is blue and so are we, but the gold is in somebody else's pocket. Our big noise and society belle is Beno Lindley, Troy's little sister. He is a regular devil with the women and there's no telling who he'll try to give his pin to next. We've got another athlete at last, and brother Burke is holding up our traditional record of having one letter man in the house every four years.

Fraternally,
MERRILL HEALD.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

Dear Scootch:

Here's for a record year. We started off with a bang by pledging one guy with 10,000 dollars and a good-looking dress suit. We've got almost three cars, and the only thing the matter with one of them is that it won't run. We've at last succeeded in getting rid of that opprobrious nickname "Atty-O" that you used to get so sore at.

We cleaned our back yard last week and raked the dirt over into the next lot which happens to be the Beta's yard. We work a good little ol' stunt during rushing. Dan Teters and Hersh Gillis, being our rushing committee, can always obtain a goodly supply of that liquid refreshment they named Bacchus after. You see, it's this way, the rushee is placed in Gillis' car, taken to Colfax where brother Truax is running a drug store. The drinks are mixed and in a short time, so is the rushee; so badly in fact, that before he realized it, we were all singing, "Gee, aint it grand to meet a brother A. T. O."

By the way, we still owe $175 on that last new davenport we got, so if you happen to have any loose change, why slip her along for old Alpha Tau Omega, y' know.

As ever,
BILL KING.

KAPPA SIGMA

Dear Doug:

You must be sure and come over to see us, now that we are all settled in our nice, big house. It used to be the Theta House, you know, so we feel quite at home. Nothing is too fine for Kappa Sigma. Of course, we had to pledge quite a lot of men to fill the house, since none of our members are very husky. Don't worry about us, though, we will be sure to keep indoors during fly swatting season.

You will be proud to know that we are keeping up the chapter reputation for speed, and with the Thetas always introduce the latest styles in college circles. Brother Goulard is especially advanced in his ideas, having appeared on the campus wearing an ankle watch. It shows up especially well on windy days. The administration has required us to wear dimmers on our silk shirts, for we were dazzling all the co-eds and lowering the scholarship of the institution. Since Jack Friel contrived to slip into the basket ball team, we have ranked high in athletics, and our stock jumped above par at the Pi Phi house. We have framed the picture you sent us of Messrs. Hart, Schaffner and Marx and have hung it above the shrine in our chapter room. We pay a special draftsman to part our hair, so rest assured that our appearance is all that the most particular of alums could wish it.

Fastidiously yours,
KAPPA SIGMA.

PSI NU SIGMA

Executive Comm. Alpha Zeta
Pullman, Wash.

Dear Brother Stackhouse:

Since you've left we've felt a loss that no one of our 76 members and pledges can replace. Remember, if Alpha Zeta, I mean Psi Nu Sigma, is to prosper you'll have to send us some more assorted farmers - remember our slogan, "Variety is the Spice of Fraternity Life." We have rented our automobile driveway to the A. T. O.'s who have a lot of cars to drive around on it. We re-shingled the garage to keep the lawnmower from getting rusty. We used to keep it in the basement, but we use that now to sleep in.

At last we've found a meaning for our colors, Yellow, blue and white. Yellow stands for our valor in athletics, blue for the sky as seen through our roof, and white for our collars once a month. When you receive the Chinook of '22, you will notice a snapshot of McFeeley in a dress suit. That's his own! There ain't any national fraternity got anything on us for style! We can't remember how many of you fellows were here last semester and aren't here now, but at least 34 of you ought to come back to school next year whether the other 27 do or not.

Well, I've got to rook. Write soon.

Fraternally,
DARYL LEONARD.

PHI DELTA THETA

Dear Sornie:

Time brings progress—you remember our rushing troubles in the days of Delta, well, we've taken a tip from the Washington State Booster Club and are now following the slogan, "Every member bring a Pledge." It's cheaper than rushing and we don't have to worry. We were unfortunate in losing our chapter hall and principal place of rushing when the W. S. C. Creamery burned. Speaking of rushing, we were fortunate in having Prof. Isaacs on our rushing committee. Of course we can't do much in athletics until we get rid of the Schnebly twins because anybody that can sit between them and get anything to eat can make a living on a rock in the middle of the Pacific Ocean (Joke). Ellensburg stock still runs high but we expect a slump when the Sorenson-Deffland line runs out. If you see any good prospects, tell them about Phi Delta Theta at Whitman and then send them on to us.

Yours for Phi Delt,
LYMAN WATERS, Esq.

DELTA TAU ALPHA

Dear Webb:

There really isn't much news to write, we haven't been here long enough to accumulate any real spicy stuff. It ripens with age, you know. We have just purchased the property next to the Sigma Chi house for it behooves us to get as near fraternity corner as possible. Prof. Burton leaves in June. He really is the biggest asset we have, but of course, this is confidential. Some of the fellows are pessimistic about our being the thirteenth frat on the campus, but what's in a number.

Most of us being music majors, we while away the pining hours on the jew's harp or the ukelele. We've ceased drawing lines on nationality when it comes to pledging, it doesn't pay to be exclusive.

Your Swedish Brethern,
DELTA TAU ALPHA.

SIGMA NU

Dear Dick:

We've been wondering here at the house how you're getting along raising the Pendleton infants in the way of Sigma Nu. Remember, Dick, we still stand for crooked athletics. Sigma Nu Uber Alles. By the way, you probably know that we pledged Jack Bulmer, we needed some speed in society since we lost Moe Sax. Little Sister Norris is a regular Howard Chandler Christy, getting away big as usual. Our men all make good—moonshine. Better come up and inspect our private distillery. Understand you're an authority.

We're supervising the pledges in a course of bluffing. We must uphold our distinguished place on the scholarship list. If you can send in a little donation for the new house, it will be appreciated. We still drag in the frosh on that score.

Yours
THE SIGMA NU ATHLETIC CLUB.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

Dear Benton:

We are having an initiation next month for five of the best pledges you have ever seen—nice, big, strapping youngsters, all of them. Look like football letter men. Keeping up the old athletic rep, y'know.

Just had some plans drawn up for our new chapter house which will soon be built on the corner to the west of the present house. Some looking house;won't cost much but will make all the rest of the houses turn green with envy. We'll need a good house after this for rushing as the Kappa Sigs have just bought a big new mansion which they are rapidly filling up by using four rented cars and five pugilists.

A new house is absolutely essential if we expect to grab any more athletic captains and editors of the Glebe. We are now rivaling the Lambda Chi's in captains and will soon surpass them when we have the house. Two of the fellows already have swell machines and we have pledged four prize fighters, so we don't have to worry about that.

We want you here for the initiation. Bring the wife and kids, we'll find room for them.

Remember the house,

Affectionately,
THE S. P. E. GANG.

BETA THETA PI

Dear Bob:

It's pretty near time for me to say my "Now I lay me's" but I'll spend a few minutes away from my books to write you a line. We showed the campus a few things this last semester. We showed 'em that we were regular devils and could get 40 hours of "D" if we wanted to, and we did. We're popular with the co-eds again now. That always happens in the spring and we wonder if it has anything to do with our tennis court. We don't any of us go to Sunday School any more and five of the fellows have learned to swear. We burned up all our hymn books and pretty near sang "Little Brown Jug" the other day. We fuss at least once a month now and have real, live girls at our dances. That's the life, boy! One of the gang is editor-in-chief of the Yearly Yowl and we specialize in business managers of all kinds. Kotula is still keeping up the athletic rep, while brothers Starcher and Cronk take care of alcove athletics. We have bought a two year subscription to the Sun Dodger and the Purple Cow, instead of the Literary Digest and the Women's Home Companion as in the past, and are going to bust out with some real downright speed some of these days.

Devilishly yours,
BETA THETA PI.

GAMMA PHI

Dear Henry:

The onions are sprouting in the back yard and we are kalsomining our dining room, so our correspondence is beginning to fall behind. We are all turning out for track, so our board bills run rather high, as you know, those athletes eat expensive grub, and lots of it. Ample entertainment is afforded by the Wastaco girls when they mow their lawn or go into the carpenter business for the afternoon. We share with them the common woe of that abdominable cabbage patch of Barbee's next door. With Alpha Chi to the left of us, Alpha Delt in front of us and Kumtucks behind us, what chance have we got to be devilish. Our chief activity and delight is good old Alpha Zeta and the corduroy pants. Some of our pledges step out once in a while so we have a social reputation too.

Faithfully,
GAMMA PHI.

AMONG THE SISTERS

Being a collection of letters written by W. S. C. chapters of certain sororities to their national magazines.

MITRA CLUB

Open Motto: Silence is Golden.
Secret Motto: Take What you Can Get.
Hobby: Low Scholarship.
Song: In the Valley of the Moon.
Club Idol: Cecil Whitfield.

In our little yellow home in the valley we exist—but nobody knows anything about us. We don't go in for activities, scholarship or social functions, but we're alive just the same.

We serve as a splendid home for all the sorority girls whose houses are too crowded to accomodate them. Our fame will never die for we were the first club on the campus that lasted more than a year. Of course, the sororities grab off all the good girls we ever get, but every now and then we make a haul of conscientions objectors to sororities, so we manage to keep enough member to keep our board bill below $50.00 a month.

Hoping for the best,
Lilies of the Valley.

WASTACO

Open Motto: Democracy.
Secret Motto: Every member a celebrity.
Hobby: Running Everything.
Song: There's a Little Bit of Bad in Every Good Little Girl.
Idol: Peggy Andrew.

Even if we haven't any back yard to hang our clothes in and didn't win the scholarship cup, we make a pretty good training school for any stray Theta prospects who want to have their rough edges knocked off.

We are noted for brains and not beauty, and when it comes to brawn, no one else stands a chance. We specialize in memberships in all campus organizations, particularly honoraries, and insist on managing the Evergreen, Chinook, Big Five, Glebe, Athletics, and social committee. Our board is cheap because there are lots of us and once in a while one of us gets a date. We are sometimes affectionately called "Beefsteako" or "Wakaibayashi" house. Whenever the sororities can't agree on who to run for a certain office, they compromise by electing one of us.

Yours for fame if we can't have fortune,
Prexy's Pride (?????).

KUMTUCKS KLUB

Open Motto: Love thy Professors.
Secret Motto: Anything for a Grade.
Hobby: Teas.
Song: I want to live in a house by the side of the road.
Idol: Hard Telling.

Though our board bills are high and our social standing low, we are happy for we are our own boss. Group life, you know, is the only thing. We clubs have our own little organization which by way of contrast we call, Pan-Heavenic. We raised our scholarship about six places and that's more than most of you did. Two of our girls had dates last semester, so we are thinking of giving an informal and announcing our debut in social circles. We bought a new scarf for the library table and an alarm clock to get us to Stevens Hall on time for meals.

Yours for a big future,
Kumtucks Klub.

TONORA CLUB

Open Motto: Health makes wealth.
Secret Motto: Keep 'em guessing.
Hobby: Physical Education Department.
Song: Working on the Railroad.
Club Idol: Marjorie Duffin.

We know that we've got expensive pins and so does everybody else that isn't blind. We also know that we look like sororitity girls sometimes, but that is our aim, so why the gaff? We specialize in Crimson W sweaters and white tamo'shanters. We come in assorted sizes to suit all tastes; and the fact that we don't seem to suit many tastes doesn't mean anything in our young lives. We aren't noted for our informals, but we don't pretend we can dance like some other people we know. We live close enough to the Pi Phi's and Kappa's to get in on the sorority gossip so we live a contented little life.

Satisfactorily yours,
Tonora girls.

PI BETA PHI

Open Motto: Actions speak louder than words.
Secret Motto: "Thou shalt not borrow thy sister's garments."
Hobby: Men—with gray W's and broken noses.
Song: "My Hero."
Fratenity Idol: Irene Oliver.

Our Aim: Since we are the first female Greek letter organization to come on the campus, we must be the best. We consider it unnecessary, therefore, to abide by rushing rules as laid down for us by the inferior members of Pan-Hel. Furthermore, we always make it a point to slam the other nationals, as much as possible to the new girls, while loudy singing the praises of Pi Phi.

We consider it our duty always to keep others in their place, and to highbrow even the profs.

We regret that the crowded condition of our tenement house directly facing Campus avenue prevents our taking more pledges, but "there's a reason."

Affectedly yours,
The Highbrows.

ALPHA DELTA PI

Open Motto: "We live for each other"
Secret Motto: "Divided we stand."
Hobby: Running the library.
Song: "Bring Them In."
Fraternity Idols: Loree Whitney and Gladys McAllister.

You simply can't imagine how fortunate it is that we are so strong south of the Mason-Dixon line. We had semester rush this year, and we were thankful to have that argument with which to mystify the Frosh. We hope they will remain mystified, for ignorance, in our case, is bliss.

Betty Keevy has proved a valuable asset for the won first prize in the baby contest at the Ag. fair. Aside from this, Merle Kelso and Gladys Burchett landed Women's League jobs, all of which renewed our courage for the struggle.

Above all, we still maintain a few members who have winning ways with the men. We strive to follow their example, and never hesitate to break a date when we have a chance for a better one.

Piously yours,
Duke's Mixture.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Open Motto: We can't remember.
Secret Motto: "Catch as catch can."
Hobby: Kappa Sigma.
Song: "When Youre a Million Miles from Nowhere."
Fraternity Idol: Byron Jennings.

Our Aim: Never to admit to the sacred membership of our exclusive group any aspiring person who is not blessed with a pedigree as long as that of Gertrude Bryan's blue-blooded hound, "Jazz". For this reason we grab off as many sister pledges as possible, knowing that their family trees are deeply rooted. We find sister pledges quite convenient.

They run the chapter for us, and do all our rushing.

We let Frances attend to our activity while the rest of us attend to the men. To achieve this purpose we employ a few aids in the form of peroxide, hair nets, and Derwillo.

We aim to be always the first to introduce new styles on the campus, both in dress and coiffures. We wear our skirts short in order that our goolashes will show to the best advantage.

Lovingly yours,
The Babes in the Woods.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Open Motto: "Together let us seek the heights."
Secret Motto: "Votes for Women."
Hobby: Running other people's business.
Song: Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata played Ted Lewis' Jazz Band.
Fraternity Idol: Mary Donnellan.

Our Aim: First and foremost, to stand in well with the men, and to lasso as many frat pins as possible, particularly those of the Hanley's. Second, we feel that we are the most capable group on the campus to help Dave Hartz run the school.

Since we have the president of Pan-Hel in our midst, we figure that rushing rules can go hang. We seek to ensnare the Frosh by holding birthday parties any old time, and formal dinner parties the night before pledge day.

By virture if our national chapter being a hangover of a musical sorority, we have managed to annex about a gross of Mu Phi pins, which greatly boosts our standing in W. S. C. musical circles.

Importantly yours,
The Vamps.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Open Motto: "Let us steadfastly Love one another."
Secret Motto: "In numbers there is strength."
Hobby: Phi Delta Theta.
Song: "Let the Front Porch Light be Burning."
Fratenity Idol: NaAmy Hedberg.

It was necessary for us to pledge a large number of Frosh this year to defray the expense of a long rushing season. In fact, we pledged so many that we didn't have enough pledge pins to go around. Consequently, we had to use any kind of fraternity insignia we could snatch from the active members to label the new ones. We are sure that this policy will meet with the approval of our national officers.

Since Esther Wintler was forced to leave school because of a nervous breakdown suffered while representing us on the campus, Amy Hedberg and Bess Shoemake are now forced to uphold Tri Delt activities.

You will be happy to know that the freedom of suburban life and the generous supply of Palouse air which circulates through our spacious sleeping balcony compensates for our daily struggle with commuting to and from the campus.

Pepfully yours,
Everybody's Sweetheart

DELTA ZETA

Open Motto: We can't think of any.
Secret Motto: "Winsomeness wins."
Hobby: Y. W. C. A.
Song: "My Little Gray Home in the West."
Fraternity Idol: Florence Evans.

Our Aim: To emulate in all things our idol, Florence Evans, who we realize is our only excuse for existence.

We wait for our rivals to segregate eligible material among the Frosh, after which we go to it. Since it is necessary for us to limit expenses furing the long rush, we endeavor to starve our rushes to a point of submission, and then drag 'em in while they're too weak to resist.

We pick out the cream of Ferry Hall to brighten our social pathway and strive always to live up to the standard set for us by Ruth Allen, our society queen.

Determinedly yours,
Rhoda's Own

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

Open Motto: Refused to divulge it.
Closed Motto: "To H——with rushing rules."
Hobby: Spud Loomis.
Song: "Beatrice Fairfax, tell me what to do."
Fraternity Idol: Alice Gunning.

Our chapter house, which has a Queen Anne front and a Mary Ann rear, faces the president's mansion, which suffers extremely by contrast. The chapter with which Kappa so kindly blessed us last year has helped us hold our own in sorority circles.

We find that the spirit of cooperation manifested by our Idaho sisters is also very helpful. We owe much of our success to the subjecting of our victims to them. We recommend this cooperative rush to all other chapters. It is highly approved by Pan-hellenic and by the Dean of Women on this campus. For reasons which need not be mentioned, however, we have decided to abandon this policy after 1920.

Through our new pledges, we are enabled to maintain our usual boarding house, so we can use the extra money to recover the lamp shade occasionally.

Ambitiously yours,
The Key Ring.

SIGMA KAPPA

Open Motto: "One Heart, one way."
Secret Motto: "If you can't get Freshmen, get Preps; they'll grow."
Hobby: Sigma Kappa, first, last, and in between.
Song: "I'm a little prairie flower."
Fraternity Idol: Fanny Kyle.

Our Aim: To display our new Sigma Kappa pins as frequently as possible, and so to label our house with a brass name plate that no stranger can miss it. Our main function is to provide a suitable boarding place for Jimmy Mack, and to see that he has his corned beef and cabbage at regular hours.

We were colonized, as you know, by a few itinerant members of Sigma Kappa, so were able to accomplish our purpose of hauling in a national charter in time for bid day. The Frosh were impressed with the fact that we have over twenty chapters.

We would advise the other local on the campus to follow our example and keep down its level of scholarship, as this always impresses national officers.

Proudly yours,
The newest national

The following letter of appeal to Gamma Phi Beta is included in this page by request:

KAPPA BETA

Open Motto: "Stranded on a rock."
Secret Motto: None. (We deem it wise not to have any, as Hazel Gray is a member of our group.)
Hobby: Grades.
Song: "Sometime, Somewhere, Somehow."
Fraternity Idol: Lillian Stuart.

You may wonder why we pledged so few Frosh this year. It isn't because we couldn's, but because we wished to maintain a standard of exclusiveness, and to insure our chances of getting the scholarship cup. In this case there isn't safety in numbers, as you might think.

One of our snsters slipped into Mu Phi Epsilon this winter, so our activities consist of Mu Phi. We are paying for our little home on Ruby street,and if you have an extra supply of nice Gamma Phi Beta pins, we should appreciate an early remittance so that our quills may be released to feather our nest.

As you not doubt notice, we have emulated your open motto in our own.

Struggling yours,
The only local left.

"HURDS"

THE difference between a kitchen chair and a Chippendale chair is a matter not of material but of art.

So it is in matters of dress. It is good taste in clothes that distinguishes the man who "bothers about art."

Education has done little if it has not given to its student an understanding of good taste and art.

Hurd's wearing apparel is selected with an ideal, embodying the essentials of good taste and art.

WHY WAIT?

The clock struck nine, I looked at Kate,
Her lips were rosy red.
"A quarter after nine, I mean
To steal a kiss," I said.
She cast a roguish glance at me,
And then she whispered low,
With quite her sweetest smile, "The clock
Is fifteen minutes slow."

THE NEW MAUD MULLER

Maud Muller one November day
Rose and raked the leaves away,
Baked a batch of pnmpkin pies
Set a pan of bread to rise,
Made the beds and swept the house,
Killed a bold and marauding mouse,
Hung the curtains out to air,
Shook the rugs and combed her hair,
Powdered up her pretty nose,
Donned her new and nifty clothes,
Seized her beaded bag so fine,
Priced at nineteen forty-nine,
Hailed a trolly, took a ride,
Reached the polls and tripped inside,
And—altho she bore no grudge—
Cast her vote against the Judge.

THAT HOOCH

Somebody sent the editor of the Palouse Gazette a few bottles of home brew. The same day he received for publication a wedding announcement and a notice of an auction sale. Here are the results: Wm. Smith and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east of a beautiful cluster of roses on her breast and two white calves, before a background of farm implements too numerous to mention in the presence of about seventy guests, including two milch cows, six mules and one bob sled. Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot with 200 feet of hay rope and the bridal couple left on one good John Deere gang plow for an extended trip with terms to suit purchasers.

THE REASON

One sultry day I chanced to pause
Beneath a welcome shade,
And there espied a lad and lass
Were selling lemonade.

"How much?" I asked in merry mood.
"One cent, sir," said the lass
"Mine is two cents," the boy exclaimed,
"Say mister, buy a glass!"

I sipped wee samples from each pail,
And really found it true,
The drink that cost one cent a glass
Surpassed that costing two.

I slipped the little girl a dime,
And quaffed her lemonade,
Then quaffed thrice more, declaring it
The best drink ever made.

"Yet why," I asked, "charge half his price
When yours is twice as fine?"
In quivering tones her answer was:
"A kitty fell in mine."

THE TALE OF A ROOTER CAP

Oh, the fight was a long and a fierce one,
In fact, 'twas a free for all;
It started Thursday morning
At assembly in Bryan Hall.

It was over a funny notion,
(Not so funny to some, perhaps),
That the women of our fair college,
Should all wear rooter caps.

No one knows how it started;
'Twas the rooter king's fault, they say,
But the sisterhood rose in rebellion:
"He can't dictate to us that way."

"Why shouldn't we wear 'em, I ask you?"
Cried one fair damsel aloud.
"They ain't dignified, I tell you,"
Shrieked a voice from out of the crowd.

Then the fight was on in earnest;
'Twas a bloody and fierce affray;
"Rally, fair ones, to our standard,
The frehsmen shan't carry the day."

L'Envoi

Well, they didn't. The sisterhood [illegible]
Settled 'em once and for all.
Since someone voted too often,
No rooter caps next fall!

—[illegible]

What Is Research?

SUPPOSE that a stove burns too much coal for the amount of heat that it radiates. The manufacturer hires a man familiar with the principles of combustion and heat radiation to make experiments which will indicate desirable changes in design. The stove selected as the most efficient is the result of research.

Suppose that you want to make a ruby in a factory—not a mere imitation, but a real ruby, indistinguishable by any chemical or physical test from the natural stone. You begin by analyzing rubies chemically and physically. Then you try to make rubies just as nature did, with the same chemicals and under similar conditions. Your rubies are the result of research—research of a different type from that required to improve the stove.

Suppose, as you melted up your chemicals to produce rubies and experimented with high temperatures, you began to wonder how hot the earth must have been millions of years ago when rubies were first crystallized, and what were the forces at play that made this planet what it is. You begin an investigation that leads you far from rubies and causes you to formulate theories to explain how the earth, and, for that matter, how the whole solar system was created. That would be research of a still different type—pioneering into the unknown to satisfy an insatiable curiosity.

Research of all three types is conducted in the Laboratories of the General Electric Company. But it is the third type of research—pioneering into the unknown—that means most, in the long run, even though it is undertaken with no practical benefit in view.

At the present time, for example, the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are exploring matter with X-rays in order to discover not only how the atoms in different substances are arranged but how the atoms themselves are built up. The more you know about a substance, the more you can do with it. Some day this X-ray work will enable scientists to answer more definitely than they can now the question: Why is iron magnetic? And then the electrical industry will take a great step forward, and more real progress will be made in five years than can be made in a century of experimenting with existing electrical apparatus.

You can add wings and stories to an old house. But to build a new house, you must begin with the foundation.

The qualities which distinguish the Guaranty Banks—steadily and progressively developed by bankers and lawmakers—have been years in making.

Every one feels in the Guaranty Banks a superior sense of safety for their funds.

That safety is the result of trained minds working together for the good of the public.

That the guaranteed feature of Guaranty Banks is appreciated by depositors is shown by their increasing patronage of these institutions.
Avail yourself of guaranteed safety for your bank deposits by becoming a customer of a Guaranty Bank today.

A THRILLER

She sat on the bench reading her Cate chism. She had a little grey cat beside her.

Our hero leaned over the back of the bench and kissed one of them.

We didn't see, but we wonder

Was it the Catechist?

YOU SAID IT!

Florence: I'll never marry a man who can't look me square in the eye.

Mable: Then you'll have to wear them longer, dear.

THIEVES AND ROBBERS

The other night while going home
Somewhat later than usual
I was waylaid
By a masked marauder
Who massaged my ribs
With a Colt 38
And asked me very impolitely
For my cash
But when I told him that I had
Been out with a co-ed
He handed me a five-dollar bill
And passed on silently.

HIS GIRL

Her sylph-like form is perfect;
Her feminine apparel
Hangs daintily like burlap
Upon a sugar barrel.

Her feet are like twin rosebuds
That are but halfway blown,
And she must be quite proud to feel
That they are all her own.

Such pretty little trilbies
(She wears a number nine),
Appear to be just fashioned
For such a form divine.

And I love her for her beauty
Her lips, her eyes, her hair;
But most of all I love her,
'Cause her Dad's a Millionaire.

SOME LINE

"You cannot shake your shimmie here"
She saw upon the sign.
She pouted, shook the blamed thing out
And hung it on the line.

Bounder:—"What are all those trunks doing over there by the stage door?"
Rounder:—"Why, those are the chorus girls' clothes."
Bounder:—"Let's go to another show." —Brown Jug
